Republicans Exercise Power, Overthrow All Council Committees

Take Complete Control By Majority Membership On Major And Minor Committees; None Will Admit They 'Engineered' Upset.

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

With all leading Republican members of council denying they "engineered" it, that party's majority in council last night overthrew Council President Howard Miller's standing committee selections, and set up new groups, with Republicans in control of them all.

Under the old set-up, the two-man Democratic minority in council had controlled three vital committees.

Although the move was made without any legal opinion of sanction, it was thorough. Veteran Democratic Fred Miller, who has served on the finance and more important committees for several years was "kicked downstairs" to the utilities, traffic and salaries committees and Republicans moved into all key spots

Hardly had council convened than Councilman George C. Kyle, acting as leader in the absence of C. N. Shultz, read a resolution in which he asked that the appointments made by Council President Howard G. Miller be set aside. Kyle's resolution also called for the stripping of appointive authority from the president.

Kyle's resolution was typewritten, in legal form and with carbon copies for all members.

Yet Kyle denied the responsibility for preparing the resolution was his. He would not say who had drawn it up, though it was in legal form. City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner, a Democrat, said he had not prepared it, and there are no lawyers among the Republican membership of council.

Wagner said Kyle had called him at 1.30 p. m. yesterday asking him to give a written opinion on the right of the president of council to appoint committees. Wagner said he was already loaded down with the task of preparing eight pieces of legislation and hadn't been able to prepare the requested opinion, even though he worked without interruption through the supper hour.

Despite President Miller's protests that a legal opinion should be obtained before any action was taken, the Republican majority rolled over the Democrats by a 6-2 vote.

Then Kyle introduced another

1 Airport Request Passed, Another Tabled By Council

City council, faced last night with two requests concerning the improvement and maintenance of the badly neglected municipal airport, passed one and tabled the other for further action.

Although council authorized Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton to make application for government aid in constructing hardsurface runways and other improvements for the port, it referred the request of James R. Harrington, airport manager, who asked $5,000 for maintenance in 1942, to the finance committee for study.

Harrington asked that council appropriate funds for repairing "bad and dangerous" spots on the runways and for draining boggy sections of the landing field.

Although Mayor W. J. Locke said last week that he would go ahead with application for governmental aid for the airport as a defense project without council approval, council was submitted a resolution to authorize the application at last night's meeting.

Harrington, in a letter read to council, reminded it that "lack of proper maintenance of the airport had resulted in the transfer of 24 South American pilots, scheduled for training here, to a smaller community with a decent field."

APPROPRIATION BILL UP $5,400

Republicans Ignore Advice of Deposed Dems, Approve $308,253 Measure.

Over-riding the advice of its deposed Democratic-controlled finance committee, Republican members of council added $5,400 to the city's 1942 appropriations ordinance and approved the resulting general fund appropriation of $308,253, which is $47,213 lower than 1941's.

Heeding the request of Councilman Roy W. Vaughn for an additional $3,900 for park purposes, council approved a total parks appropriation of $23,500 which is $5,500 more than the administration requested of the finance committee.

Council also added $1,500 to the insurance fund for waterworks equipment, raising that special waterworks appropriation from $133,000 to $134,500.

Democratic members Fred Miller and Michael Mihalick opposed both increases, pointing out that the parks fund has jumped to

SEIZE OFFICERS

Nazis Round Up Norwegians After Commando Raid.

STOCKHOLM — (INS)— Joseph Terboven, reichscommissar for Norway, has ordered all former officers of the Norwegian Navy and Air force imprisoned, it was reported today from Oslo.

The reason for the order is that 100 officers who according to Terboven had promised not to fight against the Reich, took part in the last British commando raid upon the Norwegian coast, and escaped with the British landing parties.

All Norwegian officers promised not to take up arms against the Reich, said Terboven, and therefore "all are responsible for the attitude of the officers who fled to Great Britain."

FDR ACTS TO BLOCK FARM CONCESSIONS

Intervenes Personally Again In Dispute on Price Control Bill.

CALLS IN CONFEREES

Senators See Compromise On Issue of Ceilings For Farm Prices.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — President Roosevelt is considering the appointment of Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate, as a member of a supplemental board of "umpires" to assist the new national war labor board, the White House said today.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt intervened personally again today in an effort to block the enactment of special concessions for agriculture in wartime price control legislation

He called a special conference at the White House and invited to it five members of the house who will be in a position to help him when a joint conference committee goes to work late ... week on the senate version of a price control bill.

Well-informed congressional sources predicted that Mr. Roosevelt would ask the five conferees today to strive for the elimination of two senate-approved provisions which the administration considers undesirable.

One of these would invest agriculture Secretary Wickard with virtual veto power over any price ceilings the price administrator might set for farm products. Mr. Roosevelt urged against this dual control in telegrams to senate leaders last week, but the chamber disregarded him and wrote the clause into the measure.

The second unwelcome provision for the administration is the stipulation which would permit the prices of farm products to rise to 120 per cent of parity before any ceiling could be imposed. (Parity is a price which would give farmers the same return, in terms of purchasing power, that they received in the base period, 1909-1914.)

Some senators said that the spirited controversy between Wickard and Leon Henderson, price administrator, might be compromised by a provision that no farm ceilings could be set without prior consultation with Wickard.

It also might lead, they said, to abandonment of the 120 per cent of parity amendment in favor of house provisions which stipulate that no farm ceiling shall be set below 110 per cent of parity, the Dec. 1 market level or the average prices from 1919 to 1929.

Meanwhile, administration lieutenants also were seeking senate-house compromises on daylight saving time, appropriations for civilian defense and for defense housing.

However, the No. 1 legislative subject remained the price control bill. And not all of the legislators agreed that Leon Henderson should be continued as price administrator under the new legislation.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, jr., (R.-Mass.), the house minority leader, urged appointment of former President Herbert Hoover to head the price control agency.

Have Close Brush With Death

Two heroes congratulate each other. Wade A. Wise, left, and V. C. Stevens, right, both of Mansfield, R. D. 3, saved each others lives yesterday after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes. The men were repairing the generator of an automobile in a garage near the Stevens home Sunday afternoon. Although they had the motor running for less than ten minutes, enough gas was produced to render them partially unconscious. Stevens collapsed while in the garage and Wise, although near the point of collapse himself, managed to drag Stevens to the door of the garage before losing consciousness. Between flashes of consciousness, the men dragged themselves to Stevens' home where Mrs. Stevens summoned Mansfield firemen with an inhalator. Stevens recovered without treatment but firemen were forced to use the inhalator to revive Wise. "I never would have made it if Wade hadn't gotten me out of that garage," said Stevens. "I was completely out." Wise said that he had crawled out from under the car just in time to see Stevens close the hood of the auto and drop over. Stevens was able to report for work yesterday but Wise was still a bit shaky from his close brush with death.

See Tax Hike as Only Way to Aid Teachers

School Officials Tell 200 That Vote On Special Levy Only Solution To Problem Due To Fund Shortage.

Mansfield's teachers discussed their proposal for salary raises for an hour and a half Monday afternoon with school and Parent-Teacher association officials and County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe with the discussion finally evolving into the question of whether the city's voters would approve a higher tax rate to provide the raises.

The panel discussion was held in the John Simpson junior high school auditorium. It was planned by the Mansfield City Teachers' association and presided over by Rev. Glenn F Lewis, pastor of Grace Episcopal church. Virtually all of the city's more than 200 teachers attended.

A higher tax rate for schools—not more than one mill—was seen as the only way to assure the pay increase sought by teachers after President Harold W. Arlin of the board of education and Supt of Schools W. L. Miller emphasized that the board is in no position now to grant the raises.

Asked by one of the teachers what the school board "can and will do about more pay," Arlin told the group, "nothing without the vote of the people."

Doubles License Suspensions For Juvenile Speeders

Acting to curb an increase in the number of juvenile traffic violators, Probate Judge Stuart Cramer today had raised the driver's license suspension period from 30 to 60 days in an effort to "teach consideration of the safety of persons and the value of property."

"We'll double the dose from now on, unless, of course, the circumstances alter the case," said the judge, adding that "evidently the 30 days suspension was not stiff enough to curb violations."

Fred Elder, jr., 626 Arlington avenue, was the first offender to have his license suspended for 60 days. Elder was arrested yesterday speeding in the hospital zone and "cutting in and out of traffic." He was arrested on two counts, speeding and unsafe operation of a motor vehicle. He was clocked at 42 miles an hour.

"Most of the violations are caused by a desire on the part of the drivers "to see how quick they can get some place," Cramer said, adding that "drunken driving has never entered into the picture."

The offenders are usually between 16 and 17 years of age, according to Cramer, and so far they have never been arrested on a second offense.

TARAKAN ISLE, RICH OIL AREA, FALLS TO JAPS

Suffer Heavy Losses as They Make First Conquest In Dutch Indies.

DEFEAT WAS EXPECTED

Only Handful Escape After Wrecking Oil Wells and Other Facilities.

BULLETIN

BATAVIA — (U.P.) — Dutch bombers roared out of secret jungle airdromes today in the first phase of a reported all-out counter-attack against Japanese warships and invasion forces in the East Indies.

BATAVIA, N. E. I. — Large numbers of Japanese which poured into the little oil-producing island of Tarakan off northeast Borneo "literally overran the place" and only remnants of a brave little garrison have escaped to the mainland, the Dutch announced today.

This first Japanese conquest of Dutch East Indies territory, however, was made "very costly to the invader," and the Dutch and Allied air forces are continuing to pound the Japanese transports and fleet lying off the island, it was announced.

Authoritative quarters said it was rumored the Japanese threw in more than 20,000 troops against the Tarakan garrison, but they said it was a question whether the real story ever would be known.

"It may be that soon information will be received from the members of the garrison who succeeded in reaching Borneo's vast mainland, if they manage to get to the civilized world," these quarters said.

"In this connection it should once again be pointed out that Borneo is one enormous jungle in which no living soul exists for thousands of miles, so that the survivors of Tarakan will certainly have a hard time to reach one of the other Dutch outposts on the east coast of the island."

"There is no doubt," these quarters added, that the comparatively small garrison which held the little volcanic isle "fought bravely for two days, but the heavy odds in men and material were against it.

"Because of the interruption of

WIN 'HARD WAY'

Willkie Urges Americans To Lead Spartan Lives.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The American people were called on today by Wendell Willkie to "lead Spartan lives" in order to win the war which he warned would have to be won "the hard way."

Speaking at the opening of an appeal for $750,000 to pay for modernization of St. Vincent's hospital, the Republican standard bearer in 1940 said:

"Frugality and thrift, care and a sense of responsibility, hard work and self-sacrifice and reverence for the spiritual values will be our daily bread in the days ahead. For we cannot hope to meet the war program that the president has laid out for us—no, not even half of it—unless we lead Spartan lives. We must pour our wealth, our energies and, if necessary our lives into one overwhelming effort."

Diplomats Say All Nations But Argentine Due To Fall In Line.

(By Associated Press)

RIO DE JANEIRO — Argentina's reluctance to enter into any military alliances promised today to be the major obstacle to unanimous adoption of an anti-Axis front by the 21 American republics.

A highly-placed official here for the Pan American conference opening Thursday, declared that 19 of the Republics were ready to approve a declaration severing all relations with the Axis powers, and 20th—Chile—is expected to fall in line when her delegation arrives today.

The official made it clear that Argentina's attitude alone was in doubt, and diplomatic circles eagerly awaited the outcome of a meeting between U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and Argentine Foreign Minister Ruiz Guinazu which they hoped would clarify the situation.

Welles, who arrived yesterday at the head of the Washington delegation, voiced confidence in the successes of the Pan American conference and said he had no doubt it would result in decisions rendering "this hemisphere impregnable from attack." The Argentine was expected to arrive here by plane today.

Regardless of what the Buenos Aires government decides, the opinion prevailed here that there

Taxi Company Sets Up 15-Cent Rate On Downtown Trips

One of Mansfield's five taxi cab companies lowered its rate for "short" trips today, establishing a 15 cent charge for calls in the downtown area.

James W Seaton, proprietor of the Arrow Cab company, said that the lower rate was being set "to get additional business and revenue for the increased number of calls."

Seaton explained that many persons hesitated to ride a cab for a short trip because of the standard 25 cent charge, but said he believed they would do so with only a 15-cent charge.

The 15-cent rate will apply on all trips within a downtown zone bounded by Glessner avenue, Sturges avenue and Bowman streets, Sixth street and Foster street. All city calls outside of the zone, according to Seaton will be 25 cents. Longer trips will be charged accordingly.

Last week, Seaton said his company and three other taxicab companies had agreed to increase rates to 35 cents. Seaton's company was the only one to actually put the new rate into effect. Other companies refused to follow suit when a fifth company refused to join the agreement, he said.

Reclassification And Draft Calls Nearer For Married Men

The average married man in Mansfield who has been deferred from the draft because of dependency may be called to do his bit in Uncle Sam's army anytime between now and the end of the war.

Under changes promulgated in draft regulations affecting claims for dependency, thousands of married men in Ohio will be required to tell their local draft boards all over again the facts, which they believe, entitled them to deferment from army service.

Richland county draft boards had not as yet received notification of this fact today although news dispatches from Columbus stated that while selective service officials believe reconsideration of classifications of married men who have been placed in Class 3-A is not imminent it will come some time.

"Right now our local boards are too busy preparing for the Feb. 16 registration to go through their files and reclassify registrants," Edward S. Neese, chief of state draft inspectors, said. "But when

U. S. LOSSES SLIGHT

Observers Warn Against Over-Optimism Due To Japs' Reserve Strength.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The war department reported today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's big guns won the opening round of the battle of Batan, shattering Japanese tank and infantry concentrations, knocking out 11 Japanese batteries and forcing the enemy to fall back.

The silencing of 11 Japanese batteries probably means between 40 and 50 Japanese guns were knocked out. The usual artillery battery comprises about four guns.

The official American communique claimed a major success for MacArthur's men in the vital artillery duel in which the Japanese had hoped to soften up U. S. positions in preparation for a grand assault.

For 24 hours, the department said on the basis of reports from MacArthur, the battle raged without cessation.

"Columns of enemy tanks and other armored units as well as infantry concentrations were shattered and dispersed by our fire with heavy Japanese losses," the communique said.

The Japanese were forced to withdraw their batteries "well to the rear of the positions formerly occupied."

MacArthur's feat in besting the Japanese in the artillery duel was regarded as spectacular evidence of his intimate knowledge of Philippine terrain and tactics.

Despite the numerical inferiority of the American and Philippine forces and the fact that the Japanese rule the air over the U. S. positions, MacArthur was able to emplace his guns and direct their fire so successfully that the Japanese superior weight of men and metal was more than compensated for.

Even with the aid of dive-bombers, the communique said,

SUB OFF CANADA

Sinks Boat 160 Miles From Nova Scotia, 94 Die.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT — (AP) — A large steamship has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine 160 miles off the Nova Scotia coast within the last 36 hours and survivors reaching here estimated today that 94 lives had been lost. Eighty-nine were saved.

The sinking was nearer the North American coast than any hitherto reported.

Of those rescued 66 were Chinese and 23 were white. Four white crewmen and about 90 Chinese crewmen and passengers were lost. Most of those lost were victims of near zero weather while afloat on rafts and small obats.

Although Japanese submarines have operated within sight of the United States west coast and submarines have been reported within sight of Newfoundland, this is the closest sinking that has occurred in the battle of the Atlantic.

the Japanese were able to inflict relatively little damage on the American positions—further proof that these previously-prepared positions were well-selected and well-camouflaged.

"Losses to American and Philippine troops were relatively slight," the communique said.

Despite the American success military observers here cautioned against over-optimism.

They pointed out that the Japanese have great reserves of men and equipment to throw into the battle while MacArthur must fight with constantly dwindling forces of men. When MacArthur's ammunition and supplies are depleted they cannot be replaced.

However, there was no doubt that as the communique asserted, "in 24 hours of continuous artillery fighting, American and Philippine batteries proved definitely superior to those of the Japanese."

The communique produced further evidence that the Japanese may have transferred the bulk of their air forces southward to back up the spreading attack on the Dutch East Indies.

It reported that "enemy air activity was confined to attacks by dive bombers in support of artillery fire. No enemy bombing attacks were made on fixed fortifications."

That indicated that the Japanese have not renewed their heavy air assaults on Corregidor island.

Added to the reports of sweeping air action against the northern fringe of the Dutch islands and in Malaya, it appeared that the Japanese have sent the bulk of their air strength to such points as Davao, 500 miles south of Manila.

The Japanese air and sea attack on the Dutch islands was being met by a growing force of united nations air craft, including many American planes and pilots and it appeared that the first major test of Japanese versus Allied air power may come in the Dutch East Indies battle.

Japanese propaganda accounts of the Bataan fighting sharply differed from the U. S. reports. The Japanese claimed that MacArthur's forces are "on the verge of collapse" as the result of the loss of Olangapo naval base, not yet conceded by the United States.

The Japanese said MacArthur had the choice of fleeing to the Mariveles mountains in the center of Bataan or of heading for Corregidor fortress in Manila Bay.

Another Japanese propaganda claim was that a fleet of American transports is being concentrated off Bataan coast in order to attempt the evacuation of MacArthur's troops.

Since the waters around the Philippines are infested with Japanese naval ships and patrolled closely by Japanese aircraft such a maneuver seemed most unlikely, particularly since MacArthur has made clear that he is fighting a last-ditch battle on his chosen ground in the Philippines.

Chinese Continue to Mop Up Jap Force

CHUNGKING—(INS)—Chinese forces in northern Hunan province continued their "mopping up" operations today, according to an official communique, while other Chinese units launched new counter-attacks in eastern Honan province near the Anhui border.

The fresh counter-thrusts got under way in the Checheng, Taikang, Luyi and Hwaiyang areas.

While the Chinese were mopping up the defeated Japanese forces north of Changsha, the Chungking military command was reported preparing for a general push on all fronts.

The Chinese killed 8,000 more Japanese trapped north of Changsha, and captured 1,000 more, reducing to roughly 30,000 the force of more than 100,000 Japanese who unsuccessfully tried to capture Changsha.

Reds Retake Orel, Key Rail City

(By Associated Press)

Russia's armies were unofficially reported today to have recaptured the key rail city of Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow, where a force of 200,000 Germans was believed virtually encircled by the southern claw of a giant Soviet pincers aimed at Smolensk

The British Exchange Telegraph agency quoted Berlin sources as saying Adolf Hitler already had moved his field headquarters from Smolensk, 210 miles west of Moscow, to a city in southern Russia.

In the north, Hitler's high command admitted that the battered German armies had been thrown back to the Valdai hills, the upper starting-point of last October's German drive against Moscow which the fuehrer boasted would be the "last great, decisive victory" of 1941.

The Nazi high command also reported quickening action on the southern (Ukraine) front, where the Red armies of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko are driving to recapture Kharkov, the Russian "Pittsburgh."

On the North African front, Hitler and his Axis ally, Premier Mussolini, suffered a new blow as British troops were officially reported to have recaptured the desert town of Salum, on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, where Axis forces had held out as a threat to communications of the British counter-invasion into Libya.

More than 300 miles to the west, British vanguards have reached the road from El Agheila, on the Gulf of Sirte, to Marada, a desert city 70 miles to the south, "along which general line the enemy appears to be preparing to make a stand," Middle East headquarters said.

Amid these reverses in Russia and Libya, Hitler was reported sending heavy German reinforcements into southern Italy for an attack on Malta, British island stronghold in the central Mediterranean.

Badly needing a victory to bolster his tattered prestige, the Nazi fuehrer apparently looked on Malta as a "ripe plum" ready to fall after months of incessant day-and-night bombing.

The malady is contracted from infected birds of the parrot family and causes death in an average of four out of every 10 cases.

There is little danger that the disease will spread, city health authorities said, because it is much less communicable from one human to another than it is from bird to human.

the radio communications in the early stages of the assault, nothing is known here or at headquarters of the Netherlands Indies forces at Bandoeng about the course of the battle, but it is known that the Japanese poured in large numbers of troops and literally overran the place."

The garrison's chief function, it was added, was to hold the island long enough to wreck its oil wells and other facilities before they could be of benefit to the Japanese. The oil of the island is of such quality that it can be piped directly into ships for use.

Capitulation therefore had been expected from the very first, when a strong transport and fleet force of the Japanese appeared off the island Saturday and began landing operations that night.

Report Sensational Malay Break Due

LONDON—(INS)—British military authorities maintained silence today over Singapore reports hinting that some new, sensational development is pending in the Malayan war theater.

First hint that something new is on the fire was contained in a Reuters Singapore dispatch, which said.

"It is learned that an important announcement can be expected at any moment which may change the Malayan situation considerably in Britain's favor."

Hints that a turn in the course of the Malayan campaign may be forthcoming were issued at the moment press criticism of the manner in which the campaign was handled approached its most bitter point, both in England and Australia.

Members of parliament were announcing they intended to question the government closely regarding the Malayan situation when commons meets again.

Reinforcements Reach Singapore

BULLETIN

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Japanese air bombers smashed at Singapore today despite a violent anti-aircraft barrage but apparently inflicted little damage.

SINGAPORE—(INS)—A powerful anti-Axis aerial offensive on the Malayan front was anticipated today with indications that strong reinforcements of planes and airmen already have reached Singapore.

A high British authority predicted that the united forces will have "air superiority over the Japanese within three days"

Meanwhile, Japanese forces were hammering at new British defense lines in western Malaya, only 150 miles from Singapore.

But this great Far Eastern base's strengthened air defenses were reflected in an announcement that Netherlands East Indies planes shot down three Jap bombers during repeated enemy raids over Singapore yesterday.

These Jap assaults were declared to have caused no appreciable damage and only a few casualties. The Jap raiders came over the island base in two formations—the second consisting of 24 planes—but were scattered quickly by anti-aircraft fire and fighter patrols.

It was reported that a total of 125 Japanese bombers and fighters participated in yesterday's raids on Singapore. British fighters were said to have shot down at least six of the raiders and probably four more.

At Rangoon it was announced British Imperial forces had clashed with the Japs on the Burmese-Thailand border resolution in which he named new standing committees of council in "an orderly manner of conducting the business of council."

Republicans Take Control But None Will Admit 'Engineering' Plan.

This resolution, like its predecessor, was also in legal form with carbon copies for each member of council.

It listed the committee membership as follows:

Finance, Russell D Porch and C. N. Shultz, Republicans, and Michael A. Mihalick, "freshman" Democrat; streets, Kyle, James R. Anderson and Roy W. Vaughn, all Republicans; sewers, Vaughn, Kyle and Anderson; light, Paul L. Bush, Shultz and Clifford G. Knarr, all Republicans; salaries, Democrat Fred Miller, Bush and Porch; claims, Mihalick, Knarr and Bush; utilities, Anderson, Porch and Miller, and traffic, Knarr, Miller and Vaughn.

In the committee appointments made by President Miller and protested by the Republicans, Fred Miller and Mihalick served on the all-important finance, water and light committees along with Shultz. The Republicans were given control of the other committees

Before the Republicans rolled over the Democrats, a long period of heated debate was held in which the Democrats demanded of the Republicans an explanation for the changes.

"Is it political reason which dictates these changes," Fred Miller asked Kyle, "or are the changes being dictated by a political boss? I have served on practically every committee in council without complaint and have carried out my work to the best of my ability. If Mr. Kyle does not feel that he is capable of carrying on the work of the committees to which he has been assigned, the people should send him home and replace him with a Boy Scout."

Miller later said that "the political boss" to whom he referred was Mayor William J. Locke, who said last week that he "never interfered with council"

After the final vote on the committee changes, Fred Miller sent a withering glance in the mayor's direction and said bitterly, "Thank you, Mayor Locke" The mayor left the council room hurriedly and returned only at brief intervals to hear the reading of the 1942 appropriations bill.

After Kyle refused all comment on the committee set-up, Shultz and Councilman Russell D Porch also denied they had had a hand in preparing either resolution or the naming of committee members.

Thus it seemed apparent that, like Topsy, it "just grew"

Councilman Miller's sharp remark to Mayor Locke indicated beyond doubt, however, that he felt the mayor was responsible for the maneuver nad the new appointments

The mayor brought the council committee situation into the forefront last week when he conferred with Solicitor Wagner on ways and means of getting around Miller's appointments.

The mayor was in his office for a short time this morning, but was reported out of the building "to keep an appointment" at 10 a. m. Telephone calls to his office up to noon elicited the information that he had not returned.

Asked about his move of last week, the mayor replied that he never interfered with council.

However, council Republicans caucused in his office last night before the regular meeting and he was there It was at this time Porch revealed that the resolutions were discussed and it was there, Porch added that he first saw the proposed list of committee appointments. He revealed, however, that some Republican councilmen had met last Sunday to discuss the committee situation.

Porch said he had made a couple recommendations last night, but did not say whether the caucus acted on them.

When asked who had presented the new list, Kyle said that "council had made the changes." Reminded that the four new "freshmen" Republican members and the two Democrats would hardly take the lead in such a move and that Porch and Shultz had denied any part in the matter, Kyle said that Shultz "had known" of the changes and had examined the list before the caucus meeting.

Reached at his home today, Shultz offered this comment.

"If you couldn't find out from Kyle, you couldn't find out from anybody"

Added to the mystery of who led the way in last night's move was also the problem of whether the action was legal. If the Republicans had obtained a private legal opinion on their move, they kept quiet about it.

Before the final vote, Fred Miller said: "This is nothing but rotten politics In two years, the people will recall all instigators of this political scheme."

The Democratic members challenged the Republicans to show where any law had been violated in the original committee appointments. They pointed out that all legal requirements had been met.

Miller called attention to the 38-year-old precedent of the president naming council committees and stated that the changes should not be made without legal approval.

The Republicans were unable to obtain emergency passage on several pieces of legislation. With Shultz absent and the two Democrats voting against the suspension of rules, council was able to pass as emergency measures only the appropriations bill and another ordinance empowering Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton to enter into a contract for removal of the street car rails from city streets.

Republican disorganization because of the new committees was apparent. None of the new chairmen or committee members were able to make decisions upon the many matters referred to their committees and attempted to throw the matters into a group discussion or to have action postponed.

SEEKS NAVY POST

Mickey Cochrane Hopes to Be Aide to Tunney.

DENVER—(INS)—Gordon Cochrane, 39, better known as baseball's "Iron Mike," revealed today that he expects an early call for service in the navy.

Mickey, one of baseball's all-time greats as catcher with the Philadelphia Athletics and later as the Detroit Tigers' playing manager, said he hopes to be accepted as aide to Lieut Commander Gene Tunney in the navy's physical education department.

Reclassification And Draft Calls Nearer For Married Men

the new registration is completed you can expect local boards to begin reconsideration of individual 3-A cases."

Married men with one or more children were assured yesterday by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national elective service director, that they would not be called for army service "until an army of 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 has been built." He said the purpose of deferring married men had been "to protect the home" and he added he did not "see why we should stop now."

Hershey did not speak specifically about married men who have no children and many of Ohio's 559,201 Class 3-A men are in that category. The policy has been to decide on the deferment of such men on the basis of whether their wives support themselves or are able to support themselves.

Neese said the new classification regulations for married men would hit heaviest at all draft eligibles married since Sept. 16, 1940, the date of the passage of the draft act. The new rules will operate much more sharply in placing men to be registered Feb. 16 in Class 1-A and in ending present Class 3-A deferments for certain types of married men, he said.

The new regulations, which place the burden of proof of dependency on the registrant in draft marriages, provide:

1. No registrant may be deferred if he obtained his dependent status after Sept. 16, 1940, or before Dec. 8, 1941, unless he can show that such status was not voluntarily acquired when selection for military service was imminent.

2. No registrant may be deferred if he acquired a dependent status after Dec. 8, 1941, unless he can show the status was acquired under circumstances beyond his control.

State draft officials said there would be "no general reclassification nor even any general reconsideration of 3-A cases" but added that many cases of men deferred on dependency grounds would be brought once again before local boards. Cases will be considered individually and each treated on its own merits, they said.

"Even the fact that a registrant's wife works is not prima facie evidence that he should be drafted," Neese said. "Every case where the husband and wife both work—as all other cases—must be considered individually and in regard to the standard of living they are accustomed to."

CHURCH ATTENDANCE UP

NEW YORK—(INS)—Increased church attendance since the attack on Pearl Harbor, was reported today by the national council of the Protestant Episcopal church. The council also reported larger contributions since the war started.

BUILD 200 HOUSING UNITS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Two hundred demountable housing units for use by war plant workers will be constructed in Sandusky from a $153,000,000 presidential allocation, the office of emergency management announced. A presidential allotment also was made for 100 trailers for similar use at Dayton.

NO JOY RIDES

State Invokes 'Business Only' Rule With Its Cars.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The state is riding close herd on its automobiles, officials said today, and enforcing the "business only" rule laid down by Gov. John W. Bricker early in his first term.

Gone are the days when state employes could take state cars on vacation trips and week-end junkets, say those in charge of seeing that the Bricker order is enforced.

"Private use of state cars is practically eliminated in our department," Highway Director Hal G. Sours said today, reporting 551 automobiles exclusive of highway patrol cars in his charge.

Dollars are Not Fighting Equipment

THE PLIGHT of a wealthy man starving to death on a desert island is recalled by noting the calm assurance with which some people accept belief that appropriation of 56 billion dollars for war purposes this year—and more next year—will assure victory.

Estimates place total German-Italian-Japanese war expenditures at only 35 billion dollars a year, against an Allied total of 74 billions for this year.

BUT Axis dollars have already been turned into planes, ships, munitions and trained manpower, while America's 56 billion dollars are still in figures—which are ineffective in meeting the Jap onslaught in the Philippines and will have military value only after they have been transformed into implements of warfare.

The appearance of peace, which lulled many Americans into a feeling of false security last year, accounts for much of the wasted time and inefficient handling of the 1941 defense production effort.

But now, when a state of war actually exists, many of the same governmental bottlenecks that hampered production through 1941 are still in evidence in Washington and the industrial potentialities of this country—greatest in the world—are still in an unorganized condition, due to conflict in authority and consequent inability to bring some sort of order out of the present chaos in the nation's capital.

The figures used by President Roosevelt in relation to money and military equipment—planes, tanks, ships, etc.—are impressive and confidence inspiring. But until the processes of manufacture are geared to the stupendous task of increasing production to the point of providing fighting material in exchange for dollars, the actual requirements of winning the war will still be lacking.

Members of congress—in both senate and house—are demonstrating that, whatever is being asked of the people in general—politics and self-interest are not yet put aside by the national lawmakers—else an effective price control measure would have been enacted before now.

Nor does the slowness with which the prime necessity of a one-man control of production is being approached indicate that the administration has yet reached the point of willingness to put aside partisan prejudices and personal friendships in making selection of a man competent to fill that position—such a man, for instance, as Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors Corporation, whose wide experience in organizing facilities for large industrial production places him among those worthy of consideration for such a post.

Instead, however, names most frequently heard as possibilities for appointment are those of men entirely without experience in industrial production and with nothing more than theories upon which to base organization procedure.

How To Avoid 'War Jitters'

ADJUSTMENT to the reality of war is not easy and many people are still inclined to emphasize personal inconveniences (which have been mild thus far) rather than to fit themselves into the complete picture as one necessary unit in a great nation that is engaged in a desperate struggle against other nations and people that would rob Americans of all the freedom and privileges which they have been brought up to accept as "rights"—but which are not enjoyed by the people of any Axis-ruled country.

Read in the current issue of the American Magazine an article by Ernst Winkler, former leader of the Catholic Youth movement in Germany, who tells of tortures endured during four years of confinement in Nazi prisons, and of his final escape to America—a story vouched for by Sir Samuel Hoare, who helped him to reach this country, as well as by high churchmen, and the scars that remain as evidence of the truth of what he tells.

But understanding the seriousness of present conditions, and the need for all-out action, does not mean that anyone should become a victim of "war jitters," and this can be avoided, according to Dr. G. Kirby Collier, an eastern psychiatrist, by following a few simple rules. Here is the gist of the calmness program Dr. Collier suggests:

"Do not try to evade reality through the use of alcohol.

"Keep up your interest in your work of today and meet the demands of every emergency.

"Welcome new ideas and experiences. Action is necessary to happiness.

"Do not talk to others of fear or of any nervousness you may have.

"Let us, as Americans, learn from the experience of our English friends to look at facts and situations as they are. Let us recognize our duty and responsibility toward self, not exaggerating any one part.

"Cultivate the habit of looking on the bright side of every experience."

The course that must be pursued this year by Americans is one in which all eyes should be turned to victory, with determination on the part of everyone to do everything possible, by hard work and willing sacrifices, to hasten successful termination of war and return to more assured peace than followed the armistice of 1918.

There will be something for each to do—and each should be ready to do his or her share calmly and confidently.

Both Plastics and Metals Needed

THE first flush of enthusiasm over plastics caused some people to think that plastics would ultimately replace metals in the manufacture of most of the articles in common use. Plastics, from a seemingly infinite variety of raw materials, in increasingly attractive forms and colors, were regarded as the modern chemical miracle which would throw other raw materials into the discard.

Plastics continue of high importance and steadily advancing usefulness, but they haven't made metals obsolete yet and probably won't for a long time to come. At a recent symposium of chemical engineers a research authority suggested that the question should not be "plastics versus metals" but "plastics plus metals." Historically, he explained, new materials seldom entirely replace the old. Plastics and metals would best serve as "collaborative materials."

Many plastics are superior in various ways to certain metals. In other ways the metals remain superior. The modern world needs them both.

Dandelions are being studied as a possible new source of rubber—and it's a safe guess that next spring many people will tire of them.

Word comes that the Russian worker regards the boss as his equal—and that's right condescending of him, to say the least.

TOO MANY PATCHES ALREADY

Young Believes Japs Will Weaken

—By JAMES R. YOUNG

Written Expressly For International News Service.

AFTER the initial successes of a blitzkrieg five weeks ago, the Japanese are again hammering with typical Nazi ruthlessness and costliness in men and equipment everywhere in Asia, in the hope they will find a weak position among the defenders. Unless Japan attains quick successes of sufficient value to place the democracies far out on a limb, Tokyo's militarists will shortly find themselves losing the air power advantage which they have held since December 7.

YOUNG

General Douglas MacArthur's combined forces may weaken under the concentrated Japanese assault, but their gallant stand is tougher and longer than the Japanese anticipated. The Japs must break Corregidor, hold Davao and Mindanao, keep supplies moving in and fill the skies dark with planes from Formosa and Indo-China bases, else their local power will be but temporary and, as American bombers increase, Japan will be on the defensive.

Japan's second blitz blast is in the Netherlands but heavy tolls of Japanese shipping in the Celebes sea, and American hits on a large Japanese convoy off Davao are menacingly dangerous to the invader.

If Japan is to keep the war going, and she must obtain raw materials, she doubles her increasing dangers of never being able to move the goods from occupied zones to Japanese factories. The task is near impossible. An effective scorched earth policy, and more American planes overhead will ruin Japan's plans to ship home the tin, rubber, quinine and Tungsten she desperately needs.

JAPAN is attacking with such ferocity and volume in the Malaya peninsula that her losses are registering in proportion to geographical gains. Malaria is catching up with the Japanese in those swampy jungles of the Straits settlement. Few of the 12 airdromes where the British flag was hauled down are of satisfactory utilization. Supplies were destroyed by the British.

Japan can be said to be conducting three and one-half blitz movements — the Philippine sector, the Netherland East Indies, Malaya and China.

China is the one-half, with a large Japanese force immobilized through defeat at Changsha, but still holding in and around Canton for the reason the Chinese do not have sufficient small arms, a typical and familiar situation, to pursue the enemy which is standing by but not attacking. Neither side is advancing.

Air warfare is favoring the Americans and the Dutch with intensified raids on Japanese ship movements, and a sudden spurt by British aircraft on Jap bases in Thailand.

SINCE Christmas week Japan has lost more airplanes in Thailand and along the Burma Road than in six months of her early China warfare.

Our army and navy airmen over the Philippines have nearly doubled the figure.

Given Chinese bases, Americans can whack at the Japanese neck from inland, down toward Thailand and Malaya. Troop and supply ship movements from Formosa, Hainan island and Camranh bay will be subjected to bombardment. Successive attacks in these three vital spots will weaken the present Jap attacks southward.

The Japs cannot remain where they are without inviting wholesale destruction.

Listen World!

Half-Opened Door

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THIS LINE in the ads caught me—"The door was half opened yet half closed—and he was afraid."

That's life. Always we're facing a door that's half opened and half closed and wondering which side to choose.

Long ago we began that. Began it when we were cave men, peering cautiously from the narrow crevices of our dens. Our caves were cold and we were hungry.

There before us lay the jungle. The jungle was like a great door that opened into all we needed. There was food in the jungle and warm furs and riches and a mate. But there was also danger. That was the "closed" side of the jungle door.

There were wild beasts in the jungle and hostile tribes and mysterious diseases. The jungle invited — but the jungle also repelled. Should we go in? Or should we stay out? That was the question the jungle put up to us. And a man's test lay in his answer.

Life is a door half opened, half closed. With each new day we meet the challenge afresh. Shall we go in? Shall we stay out? There's the test of the stuff that's in us.

Most of us waste years waiting for life to open its door full. But life never will. The perfect opportunity — the opportunity that carries no risk with it, no inconvenience or pain — never comes. Always the door is half shut as well as half open. Always there are as many reasons against doing a thing as there are reasons for doing it.

And they're excellent reasons—"safe and sane" reasons that will rationalize any cowardice or selfishness or stupidity. If you're really afraid to go in through that half opened door, you have a thousand alibis—probably applaud them. For we're all cowards at heart.

On the other hand, if you decide to go in, you may not be able to offer one high-proof, argument in your defense. And people will boo you, and get mad at you because your courage makes their cowardice seem contemptible.

Well, which are you going to do—go in or stay out? Play safe or take a chance?

That's the question that faced the cave man. That's the question that is facing you, in the dark, narrow cave of yourself. The cave men that went into the jungle found plenty. But they also paid plenty for finding it.

They knew pain, and soon certain death. But they also knew the thrill and glory of adventure. And they built civilization — although that probably didn't do them much good, being dead. But, at all events, whatever there was they were in the thick of it. And, to some men, that's everything.

And the other cave men, they chose safety. They passed up the adventures—but they also passed up the risks. And so some men, that's everything.

So there you are, with a door before you. No matter how rich you are or how poor you are there's always a door before you. Half opened, on opportunity. Half closed, against danger. Will you go in—or stay out? It's up to you.

Timely Editorial

Marks of Disgrace.

Tuskegee Institute, which keeps a complete record, reports four lynchings in the United States during 1941. This total was one less than 1940, one more than 1939, two less than 1938, and four less than 1937. While the number of these executions by mobs has decreased in recent years, it must be admitted that so long as there is one instance of such violence the nation is disgraced.

The Tuskegee report for this year lists 19 instances where officers prevented lynchings. The vigilance, courage, and high sense of duty of officers who have sworn to uphold the law certainly are improving. When racial justice, respect for law, and an appreciation of civilized procedures really become implanted fully in the minds of the people of this country, lynching will be a forgotten barbarism.—Toledo Blade.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Investigators of Dollar-A-Year-Men Will Recommend Clean-Up of OPM

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The next report of Senator Harry S. Truman's war contracts investigating committee will be the hottest yet.

Now being prepared by the Missouri senator and his able chief counsel, Hugh A. Fulton, the report will give OPM a bare-knuckled going-over for failing more effectively to utilize the nation's industrial system for war production.

Truman will flatly demand the elimination of all Dollar-a-Year and "WOC" (without compensation) men as the first step in a top-to-bottom cleanup of the OPM, which he will recommend should be undertaken immediately.

In blasting the Dollar-a-Yearers, the report will charge that many of them, under the pretense of "giving" their services to the government, have in fact exploited their official positions to get juicy contracts for their corporations.

Also, unless a change is made in the Truman-Fulton draft, the report will declare bluntly that many of these Dollar-a-Year men have been undercover lobbyists for their firms.

Equally sensational will be the accusation that a number of them have received substantial increases in the salaries they have continued to draw from their companies while working for the government "for nothing."

Note: OPM now has 246 Dollar-a-Year and "WOC" men on its rolls. It costs the FBI $250 per man to investigate the background of these officials.

How They Do It.

THE report will say that the probe has uncovered no technical violation of the regulation barring OPM officials from handling contracts in which former business associates are interested. However, the report will charge that some Dollar-a-Year men have helped their companies get big-profit contracts by surreptitious devices.

One such device is to give their firms advance tips on orders, a tremendous advantage to a bidder. Another is to advise their firms on "how to go about" getting a contract, who to see, the amount to bid, and so on.

Also, the Dollar-a-Year boys are in a position to know of impending shortages of certain materials and to help their companies out by giving them inside information on when and how to stock up.

Truman's report will strongly recommend that the government either pay Dollar-a-Year and "WOC" men regular salaries or get rid of them. As now written, the report declares:

"No man can serve two masters, his company and the government. Human nature being what it is, a Dollar-a-Year man cannot be expected to forget the interests of his company, especially while he is still on the payroll of that company."

Wally's Lost Trip.

IT DID not leak out at the time, but just a few days before Pearl Harbor the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were preparing to take a trip to Mexico on the "Southern Cross," famous yacht of Axel Wenner-Gren, mysterious Swedish industrialist.

Wenner-Gren, who had been entertaining the niece of the Mexican president on the yacht, actually started for Nassau to pick up the Duke and his Duchess when the war broke. But the Duke changed his mind. He decided to stick to his job in Nassau.

Colonel Lindbergh.

THE colonel's commission discarded last year by Charles Lindbergh while waging his bitter isolationist crusade will be reinstated by the war department—when his formal application has been received.

As this is written it has not yet reached the war department. The ex-hero signified his desire to regain his reserve commission in a personal letter to General "Hap" Arnold, chief of the air corps and an old friend. It was Arnold who gave out the news story that Lindbergh wanted to be restored to army rolls.

So far, the war department knows nothing about it officially. However, when Lindbergh's formal application is received it will be approved and he will be assigned to active duty. Approval will be routine, since under army procedure, reserve commissions are reinstated without delay if request is made within 12 months after resignation. After the lapse of a year, such applications are handled just as original requests. But it was only seven months ago that Lindbergh quit.

Note: Since the outbreak of war in the Pacific, stripling army pilots almost daily are performing feats of daring and skill flying big bombers vast distances, that make the first trans-Atlantic flights look like amateur aviation. For military reasons the story of these spectacular flights now cannot be disclosed. But later it will be one of the truly great epics of aviation.

Brass Mine.

THE bureau of mines recently received a phone call from an official of the OPM metals and minerals division asking about "brass mines."

"What are you trying to do, kid us?" said a BM expert.

"What do you mean, kid you," protested the OPM-er. "I'm serious. We want to find out all we can about brass mines — how many there are in the country, where located and the total annual production of brass ore."

"Mister, we'd like awfully much to accommodate you," was the flabber-gasted reply. "But any schoolboy can tell you that there just is no such animal as a brass mine. Brass is an alloy made chiefly of copper and zinc."

"Oh," was the startled gasp from the OPM end of the line.

Note: Testifying before the house appropriation committee, David A. Uebelacker, chief of the copper section of the OPM materials division, admitted that he had no previous experience in the copper industry. "I came to the copper branch without any previous knowledge," he said, "other than what general knowledge the average person has." Before coming to Washington, Uebelacker was an engineer.

Merry-Go-Round.

HANDSOME Lend-Lease Administrator Edward Stettinius, who was a U. S. Steel chief before coming to Washington, had a lot to do with starting the ball rolling on the OPM order stopping the production of autos. He sent a sharp letter to SPAB vigorously urging that auto-making be ended . . . . Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones has so many jobs he hasn't time to read long letters or memos. He has issued a departmental order saying, "While letters and inter-office memoranda should properly and courteously express their purpose, I suggest they be as short as possible. since few people have time to read long communications carefully." . . . In the White House files is a letter from a U. S. cardinal urging a pardon for M. L. Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer and The Racing Form, who is serving time in a federal prison as a tax-dodger.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Saturday was Barbara Kent's wedding day. She put on her prettiest dress and became the bride of Mr. Connor Lawrence, Jr. The ceremony took place at Fifth avenue's fashionable Presbyterian church.

It is doubtful if any of the girls at the Powers Model agency saw any connection between the Barbara Kent they knew and the "Miss Barbara Mary Kent Green, daughter of the Hon. and Mrs. Ralph Westgate Green of London and Hayes House, Frome, Somerset, England," whose troth had been announced in the New York society sections on December 18

BARBARA KENT was a girl who didn't talk about herself very much. The girls at Powers knew she was reserved, and they tried to give her the right kind of advice. They thought she ought to be seen more in night clubs. They told her the more she got herself noticed, in the right way, the more offers she would have. If a model isn't "demanded," she doesn't get too far.

It may have been a natural English reserve. It may have been shyness. In any case, Barbara Kent was not a familiar figure in after dark life around Manhattan. When she went out with young men she went to obscure places, or to the movies.

Then, one night, she told something of her story to John Fitzgerald, an observer of the Broadway scene.

IN England, this girl studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. She wanted to become an actress, and she did make a beginning. But after Munich she enlisted as a war nurse, and came to America with a group of English children who were refugeed to this country. After she got here she was robbed of her money. She possessed looks and a good figure, and it wasn't long before she had a job as a model. It was then that her colleagues at Powers sought to savvy her up a bit, and put her in the way of opportunity. "You gotta be seen in the right places, kid. . . . You gotta get mentioned in the Broadway columns."

WHEREFORE, Miss Kent abandoned Broadway and took up flying. She got in her licks at the Safair Flying school, at Roosevelt field. She won her wings as a private flying pilot, and one of the first to congratulate her was a tall fellow pilot named Connor Lawrence. Connor didn't like the cafes too well either. But he liked Barbara Kent. They began flying together, and studying aerial navigation together. The newspapers began to guess who she was when she made an extensive flying tour in behalf of "Bundles for Britain."

On Thursday, Dec. 18, her engagement was announced, and Saturday, Jan. 10, she became Connor Lawrence's wife.

And that's all . . . except that she still doesn't talk about herself much. . . . She still doesn't care for night clubs and night life and the blare of the midnight, white hot clarinet and trumpet solos along the street called Broadway.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Try it once more WITHOUT looking."

Trying Goose Grease

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON SUNDAY we had the first sliding of the winter. The sky was clear, the air quite calm. Even bright sunshine did not drive back the tang of silent cold. The snow, that fell silently during the night, was three inches deep over solidly frozen ground.

Our barn bridge is steep on the east, and a long slope leads down toward the pond of spring water. I watched the oldest boy, with his brother trailing after, make a path across the whiteness no foot had touched before. Then, in leather coat and helmet and long ski pants, he stood at the top of the steepest place and threw himself upon his sled, full length.

Down the slippery path he sped, so dangerously near the thin, frozen edge of the pond that I turned my head and restrained my impulse to shout. When I looked, he had swerved away in a graceful curve and was coming back, with a glowing face and the sled under his arm. "Wasn't that good goin', Dad?" he called to me. "I just wanted to see if I could crack the ice and not go in. I almost did it, too."

"Let me try, now," his younger brother suggested.

"Wait until I go just once more. Wait, Dad, and watch!"

He was off again, with his agile body weaving as he dashed headlong. I knew, as though I were with him, the thrill and the boyish excitement. I knew how the snow smelled as it blew in his face—how masterful he felt as he swerved the sled, at will. Then the brittle ice, at the edge, broke like a window pane. The sled was in the mud. Gasping, the warmly clothed boy scrambled out, looked sheepishly about for the sled rope.

"I guess I can take it now," his brother remarked, with a wide grin.

"I'm glad I put goose grease on my shoes," was all he said. "It won't take long to dry them."

He vanished into the house, while the other boy looked at me and asked, "You knew we greased our shoes, didn't you? Mother gave us the grease from the Christmas goose. It made our shoes look like new . . . she said it would keep the water out, but I don't think she meant he should go into the pond, do you?"

SAVES METALS BY CHANGES

Westinghouse Exhibits 1942 Ranges and Refrigerators To District Men.

Shown for the first time yesterday to district personnel at a meeting at the local plant, Westinghouse refrigerators and ranges for 1942 were credited by company officials with adding improvements while making only sparing use of critical metals and other materials vital to national defense.

To conserve time and equipment during the war emergency period, the usual extensive retooling of production machinery was not undertaken, officials explained in announcing the new lines. For the same reasons, lines have been simplified and number of models reduced.

The 1942 line of refrigerators has been confined to six models, four of seven cubic foot size and two of nine foot size in contrast to 15 models last year, T. J. Newcomb, manager of the company's household refrigeration department said.

On two range models the cooking surface is illuminated by a 20-watt fluorescent lamp set in a concealed cowl. Dials and switches of the new models are grouped in a readily accessible control area, on the left back panels away from surface units. An improved oven vent is a feature of all five models in the line, which was announced by R. M. Beatty, range department manager.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mrs. Neumann Gives Paper For Victorian Club

MRS. DWIGHT WEIR welcomed members of the Victorian club to her home on Parkwood boulevard Monday afternoon. During the business session the president, Mrs. John H. Finefrock, presented communications concerning defense which had been received from the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs.

"The French and British in Ohio" was the subject of an interesting paper which was given by Mrs. Kittie F. Neumann. She said that greed outlined the pattern of struggle for Ohio in the white man's time. It was no blitzkrieg, but a long, tiresome, ugly series of small outrages and atrocities, she stated. By Mrs. Neumann's talk, the club members were reminded that the French were in Ohio first, but as soon as the English saw the value in the land, she feigned ownership of it. Both countries, however, in claiming it for their own, ignored, of course, its occupants. The Indians, bewildered, desperate and deceived, committed no atrocity in defending their rights—a plan which was not employed by the exploiting invaders.

The club members are looking forward to hearing Mrs. W. A. Harbeson present a paper on "Mansfield" at the next meeting which will take place on Jan. 26. Miss Florence MacDonald will be hostess at the Women's club at 2:30 p. m. for that meeting.

The next regular session of the club will be held Jan. 26 at the home of Mrs. Harold Moore, 188 Poplar street. Mrs. L. D. Appleman will serve as associate hostess.

Mrs. Olan La Rue, club president, had charge of the meeting. The program was supplemented by an eight-hand piano arrangement played by Eileen Dysart, Jeanne Worley, Elaine Guiher and Virginia Horst, pupils of Mrs. R. W. Worley, Mrs. Paul Monet introduced the speaker.

Father Time Need Not Be Your Enemy

By MME. QUI VIVE

Gray hair and wrinkles do not necessarily make a woman old, even when birth notation in the family Bible reports that she is getting along. There are gay old girls of 80 who are the life of the party There are women who are duds at 40, ready for the shelf. The gay ones have kept marching. The duds have defeated themselves by letting their spirits mildew. They lack courage, energy, the will to do, the will to learn and improve.

As soon as a woman has fixed ideas, howls down all modern ideas and dwells on the past, she is old. The past is interesting only to her. With the world in its present state, the old world that was is pretty much of a dead issue. We're all of us too busy to even think about it.

Fixed ideas mean that the hair-do remains ever the same. Changing fashions are cried down If the dear dodo could dig up a straight front corset she'd probably wear it, though our present harnesses are the best that were ever produced to give grace to the feminine shape. They provide support without discomfort or restriction of movement.

This particular lady has a yen against anything that is gay or cheerful. She selects dismal colors and the sight of her sends you into the dumps. She is a champion worrier

Traits and manners betray the fact that spiritual old age has descended upon a woman's head. For instance, the habit of not being interested in what others are saying, but looking vaguely around as if one were living in another world. The woman who is alive pays heed, because that is the polite thing to do. Even if she is bored she appears to be interested. Anyhow, she doesn't want to look as if she were half asleep. Her eyes are alert, her pose vibrant; she knows how to keep young. Father Time will never catch up with her, she'll always be ten paces ahead of him.

If by chance your birthday candles are getting numerous, don't let that fact worry you. Just mind your habits, and all will be well. Don't chuck the rouge pad and the lipstick; they are grand little boosters.

Seek out pretty clothes Don't go in for dull colors A red feather in your hat will help you carry on

Stand erect, don't let your steps drag Dragging steps are largely the result of habit

Don't stick in the house all the time. Be out and doing If you haven't any special job, find one. Get a hobby. Keep busy. Make yourself useful. When one is of no use one is pretty much done for. There's work for everybody these days.

Have friends' among children. Talk with them, play with them; the sweetness of their companionship is one of the most beautiful things in life.

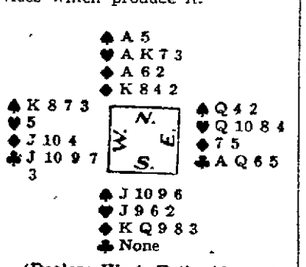
"The Authority on Authorities"

YOU NEED CONFIDENCE

MUCH OF the finest play of hands depends upon your having confidence in your own card reading. Being able to read them soundly, then lacking the assurance that you are right, can keep you from making plays which furnish the only chance to take tricks which are really possible. Especially in tournament play, in which an extra trick may mean the difference between top and bottom, it pays to spring the devices which produce it.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

Pass	1 ♣	1 ♥	2 ♦
Pass	3 NT

Seeing that East's bid of the suit had kept his side out of 4-Hearts, the probable contract at most tables, and that 5-Hearts would be the likely number of tricks at that declaration at most tables, with losers totaling one each in trumps and spades, John R. Crawford, spectacular young Philadelphian, decided he would have to find the way to make the same number of tricks at No Trumps in order to get a good score. So he went after them.

East led the spade 2, the J going on the West ducking, in the hope that later he might score two tricks for his side in the suit. Mr. Crawford then led to his diamond A, offered the heart 3, which East decided to duck, so that the J won, then ran four more diamonds. The spade A, heart A and K brought discards enabling him to know East still had the heart Q and two clubs, which must be the A-Q for his bid. So the heart 7 was sent to the Q, and East could do nothing but take his club A and then give the important 11th trick to Mr. Crawford with the club Q to the K.

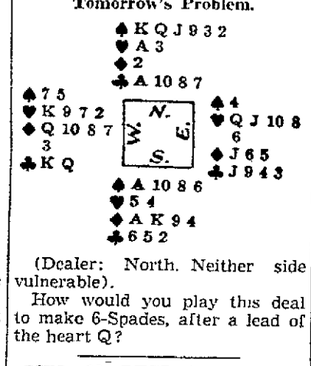
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable).

How would you play this deal to make 6-Spades, after a lead of the heart Q?

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"You know it will do. It's a natural," Mary said enthusiastically. "No matter how big a row stage people are in, they've got to put their feelings into asbestos bags while the performance goes on.

"Besides," she went on hopefully, "with you greasing the ways beforehand, as you've promised to do, it will be a lead pipe cinch for me to murmur tarily, 'sorry, sorry, Stevie, for letting you get my goat so easily. You really are too diabolically clever in that direction. But I'll forgive you.' Do you think he'll swallow it?"

The transition from the clever, fluttery impersonation to the blunt cynical query was so abrupt that I gasped before giving her the tribute of laughter.

"To quote an old jape," I told her, "he'll not only 'swallow it, hook, line and sinker,' but he'll crawl up the bank looking for the pole."

Plans a Surprise.

"I trust your optimism is justified," she retorted, wrinkling her nose at me. "And now I'll go daub on the war paint and get into a favorite gown of Noel's. What do you think? Shall I telephone him first that I'm coming?"

"Indeed, no," I decided swiftly. "If you do that, he'll have time to ask himself why you're doing it? He may think you're making a gesture, and get himself ready to resist it. But if you take him by surprise, the advantage of the situation is yours, and I think you know your husband's ways sufficiently well to know how to manage him."

"I don't know about that," she answered, "but you have something when you talk of the advantage of giving him a surprise party. I'll just do that little thing. Cheerio! I'll be out shortly."

She vanished into the bathroom, and I took up the telephone and gave the number of my father's room.

Reports to Spencer.

"Don't say my name if Ronald is there," I told him quickly when he had answered.

"He hasn't arrived yet," he said "What have you to tell me?"

"Your errand was successful," I said slowly, "but—"

"I'll be right over," he said. "Is Mary there? I shall want to see her."

"No, she isn't here," I answered, salving my con nce with the subterfuge that she was not in the same room with me. "And Father, please do not come over until I telephone you again—in about ten minutes. I'll explain fully when I see you.

"There are complications—nothing serious, but which make it inconvenient and inadvisable for me to see you just now."

There was an instant's heavy silence, then he broke it with a hint of irritation in his voice.

"I don't understand," he said, "but you probably do, and therefore I shall wait here until you telephone again. If Ronald comes here in the meantime, I will be careful in answering you."

Spencer Annoyed.

If he had said outright, "You don't need to warn me again," he could not have made his meaning more clear. But I knew that he was subconsciously voicing the irritation which is always his at even the hint of frustration of any of his wishes.

He will not stoop to overt querulousness, but he cannot quite keep annoyance out of his voice when his will is being crossed, or he imagines it is. I have observed the same weakness in other aging men of affairs who for years have been absolute monarchs of their particular arenas of activity.

I did not wish to irritate him further, so I uttered only a meek "All right, Father," before hanging up the telephone. But I spent no time or nerve force in worrying over his possible displeasure. All my interest was converged on Mary and the attempt she was about to make to ease her husband's mind, now tortured with visions of Stephen Redfield.

Hurries Mary Away.

She came back into the living room of my suite before ten minutes had expired, and I exclaimed with pleasure at the sight of her slender loveliness arrayed in a smart tan wool street it and an orange-colored blouse setting off her vivid coloring.

"How lovely, Mary!" I said. and she pirouetted around me, one arm curved around her head, her hand pointing upward

"Will Noel like it, do you think?" she asked, but there was a hint of smugness in her query which told me she was sure of her answer

"If he doesn't he's blind," I told her. Then, because I was so anxious to talk to my father, I sped my parting guest, with celerity.

"Now, if you don't mind," I said, "I wish you'd hurry over to see Noel. He might go out, you know."

½ cup celery
½ cup mushrooms
¼ cup milk Pinch sage
Salt and pepper

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Jan. 14.

A good time to push forward on ambitious projects in matters where the element of social prestige or personality and charm is the influential factor. However, there is some danger of inciting antagonism from acting impulsively, over-aggressively and with lack of gentle and diplomatic approach. With such turbulence or emotionalism under control there should be a definite advantage with much success.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of year of definite and unexpected success and accomplishment, with the aid of those in power and of friendly attitude, lending greatly to cherished goals. But it will be necessary to suppress all strenuous and impetuous tactics, substituting charm and personal appeal for aggressive, forceful and tempestuous measures. This is likely to incite antagonism and opposition rather than friendly cooperation. Be gracious and use finesse in asking favors and preferment.

Uncertain Destiny + + + + + +

CHAPTER VII

It was hard, Linda soon discovered, to slip into the routine of her regular life again. The routine of eating and sleeping, of working hard each day and sitting at home each night with her parents—and with Kyle.

Little things Kyle did began to annoy Linda, this was puzzling, for she had never allowed any criticism of Kyle, nor felt any emotions toward him before save admiration and trust. Now both her admiration and trust seemed waning. Since Kyle was out of work, he seemed to take it for granted that he was welcome to spend his time at the Phillips home, and each evening when she returned home Linda found him hunched over a card table, or absorbed in a newspaper. Still she managed to keep silent, her sympathy for his lack of employment over-riding her growing suspicion that Kyle was making no effort to find work.

Gradually Kyle began to study her thoughtfully, Linda's parents, too, watched their daughter in wondering silence. There was a strangeness about her that perplexed them. By turns she was moody and gay; irritable and gentle. And then, four days after her return from Chicago, Greg's letter came!

Linda stared at the slim, white envelope addressed in flowing masculine style, and her heart pounded madly, her thoughts were deliriously joyful. It had come—at last, the message for which she had been waiting. Forgotten was the agony and doubt of the last few days when she had waited and hoped for some word—some sign that Greg Hollister had not forgotten . . .

Later Linda faced her parents defiantly.

"I think you should know," she began bluntly, "that while I was in Chicago I met someone I like very much. Someone completely different from anyone I ever knew before."

For a moment after Linda's startling words, there was an uncomfortable silence. John Phillips looked anxiously at his wife then in the direction of his daughter. Painfully he cleared his throat, giving voice to the nameless fear that had haunted the Phillips for several days.

"This—this person—is a young man?"

Linda nodded brightly. "His name is Greg Hollister, and he's a chemical engineer."

The faces of her parents were shocked and incredulous and suddenly the thrill of telling them was gone for Linda. It was going to be very hard, she realized suddenly, for them to understand all that had happened in that brief Chicago week-end. Their lives were so placid, so completely shut away from the excitement and intrigue of life in a big city. Could she make them see Greg Hollister as she saw him, or would they condemn her for allowing the man to make light love to her.

Gravely she poured out the story, sparing no detail in a description of Greg, of his work, his eligibility.

"But dear, what about Kyle?" Her mother asked. "Have you forgotten that you're engaged to him?"

"I haven't told you everything," Linda hastened on evading temporarily all mention of her fiance. "I received a letter from Greg today. He—he's coming to Prairievale this week-end. He's coming," her voice rang out proudly, "to see me."

Following her joyous announcement, there was absolute silence. John Phillips looked uneasily at his wife, and then toward his daughter, and Linda's happiness died. She had expected something — some word regarding Greg's trip, but the silence was pregnant with meaning.

Then, slowly, Mary Phillips arose, her face white and determined. She was still not sure that she had heard correctly. The idea of Linda announcing the arrival of a stranger to their midst seemed incredible.

"I don't understand this," Mrs. Phillips said earnestly, "and I don't want to hear that—that man's name mentioned here again. If he dares to follow you to Prairievale—if he dares, this—this Greg person shall not set foot inside my house!"

Following her mother's grim statement, Linda felt hot, resentful tears welling up in her eyes.

"You don't understand," she sobbed pitifully. "I—I don't understand myself, but I'm trying to. Please help me, Mother. I'm—I'm terribly afraid."

Mary Phillips hesitated, torn between pity for her daughter and rebellion against something she could not comprehend—a hidden danger that threatened to invade their home.

Then she gathered the weeping girl into her arms, and Linda sobbed out her fears.

"I thought I was happy," she murmured. "Now I'm—unsure. If I don't find out before it's too late—"

"Then you must do what you think best," Mary Phillips said. "Marriage is a solemn rite, Linda. If I've been hasty in condemning you, I'm sorry. But your father and I value your happiness above all else, if you want to indulge in this bit of foolishness, to try Kyle's patience, then everything must rest with you. I want no part of it."

"But you will see Greg and talk to him?"

Mary Phillips sighed heavily. "I'll see him," she promised, and Linda's face cleared magically.

"He's driving through to Kansas City to attend a chemical convention, and stopping over in Prairievale for the week-end."

John Phillips shook his head sadly. "I don't know just what to say to you, Linda. If we'd had some warning that you, that—" he stumbled over the words, and went on. "Well, as long as you've heard from this young man, what will you say to Kyle? The story will be all over town by morning."

"Kyle?" Linda repeated the name slowly, knowing that she could no longer postpone a discussion of her fiance. Despite her happiness over this exciting interlude, Kyle, too, must be considered.

"I'll tell him the truth," she decided bravely. "Tonight."

"And what will be the truth?"

Linda debated the question silently. What was the truth? That she had fallen in love with another man, or that she had been temporarily swept away by the excitement, the glamour of seeing new faces and living in a whirl of excitement and thrills.

There was other excitement that evening in the Phillips household, for Kyle had obtained a new job. Promptly at dinner time he appeared in the door, beaming proudly.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — Ask any statesman in Washington and he will tell you that the war can be won only through sacrifice. It is the keynote of all current eloquence. But ask most of them to sacrifice anything for himself or his constituents and see where you get.

Gen. Johnson.

Here are a few examples to prove the point.

Everybody recognizes that price inflation could double and treble the cost of the war or even bankrupt the nation. "In principle" nearly everybody is for moving to stop it by simple and direct control through a price-fixing bill. It is not contested that the principal elements in our whole price structure are farm prices and labor wages.

There would not be much sacrifice about controlling the whole upward spiral as Leon Henderson has been so valiantly trying to do —with insufficient authority and backing.

When the price control bill comes up we find almost no opposition to it except as to its principal clauses without which it is nothing. Labor won't stand for any wage control at all. Agriculture devises a clever little scheme which defeats the very purpose of the bill.

Consequently price inflation is upon us and has already increased war costs by $13,000,000,000. It is disgraceful.

It is obvious that the president does not minimize the necessity for efficient civilian defense. He appoints Fiorella LaGuardia to get it. The public reaction to spreading the little flower's great talents too thin and the lack of substantial progress were so deplorable that change was imperative.

Does Mr. LaGuardia make whatever sacrifice is necessary to his ambitions and step down —which he could do with the greatest of ease? He does not. He forces the president to appoint another Knudsen-Hillman two-headed-boy monstrosity. Nobody can argue that this is in the public interest in a time of crisis.

The national capital, with expanding federal organization, becomes a mushroom boomtown. Police and transport facilities are wholly inadequate. There is no place for the daily hordes of new arrivals to live in decency. In the meantime, there are many bureaus, if not departments that could be split up and their headquarters and workers sent to live in places where living room is available.

Can a little space be made by a few relocations? Not without arousing all the clamor of a pig-sticking contest. The opposition is based on alleged loss of efficiency. A single trip through the sprawling location of bureaus in a single department scattered all over the city ought to be enough to convince that almost any other system would be better.

This is war. Soldiers and sailors are taken from their families, their earnings cut to fractions and their lives sometimes lost. Millions of people will be deprived of their means of living by priorities and conservation. Yet they do not squawk. The resistance in Washington to this prime war requirement is shameful.

Some labor leaders come to Washington to "cooperate" in industrial mobilization and plant conversion. When they arrive it develops that their primary purpose is to use this crisis to advance their own interests and to obtain a partial, if not total control of industry in the managerial sense.

If we can't cure this and replace selfishness and cross purposes with a real unity in sacrifice and effort the president's armament program hasn't a chance of being completed in time.

GEN. JOHNSON: New War Labor Board Begins Work

SPEAKER CALLS FOR INDUSTRIAL, LABOR HARMONY

Teamwork Necessary To Win War, OPM Official Tells Foremen's Club.

Predicting that the war will last at least two more years and winning it will be a bigger job than most people think, Dr. W. P. Edmonds of Cleveland, an OPM director in northern Ohio, last night called for more harmony between labor and industrial management in a talk before the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club.

He spoke before 200 foremen at a dinner meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. He "pulled no punches" in his talk and emphasized that the country needs a united front now as never before.

"Our only job now is to win the war, and we need to understand the importance of that job and get into it as soon as possible," he said.

War production is being handicapped by lack of labor leadership in Washington and the lack of teamwork between management and labor, he said.

"It's too bad that management and labor are still at odds," he asserted. "Management is still thinking too much of profits and labor is still thinking largely in terms of higher wages and perfecting its organization."

Dr. Edmonds, who is manager of industrial relations for the Standard Oil company of Ohio, explained that he believes wholeheartedly in labor unions as a protection for the working man, but he emphasized that capital and labor must forget its differences now and work together to defeat the Axis powers.

"My opinion may not be any good, but I predict this war will be won when one of the countries —and I say it will be Germany—breaks under the strain and realizes it can't win," he said.

"The United States and England will never give in. They can't lick us for we have been free men for generations and if it comes to the showdown, not one of us would submit to Hitler's domination."

"The nation has the needed spiritual leadership in President Roosevelt and that's what counts most in a crisis," Dr. Edmonds said.

Although the nation's industries must speed up their output to record figures for the duration of the war, workers should not be called on to stay on the job more than six days a week if they are to give their best efforts to their jobs, he said.

Dr. Edmonds was introduced by P. M. Wooden, president of the club, who was in charge of the meeting.

GETS YEAR

Organist Sentenced to 'Works' on Delinquency Charge.

Ernest L. Houde, 42, Mansfield organist, was sentenced to one year in the Columbus workhouse by Probate Judge S. H. Cramer today after Houde had pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Houde was arrested at his home, 243 West Park drive, last Friday on a charge involving six boys from 10 to 15 years of age, who attend Lincoln Heights school.

The arrest was made by Sheriff Deputies J. R. Hetler and G. C. Humphrey who said they had received complaints that Houde had picked the boys up in the afternoons as they left school.

Atty. George H. Blecker represented Houde at the hearing.

John Roxborough, the heavyweight champion's other manager, was sentenced last week to a two and a half to five year prison term in Detroit on a charge of dealing in policy slips.

CONSUMPTION OF WATER HIGH

733,000,00 Cubic Feet Used In Mansfield; Receipts Up $15,437 Over 1940.

Mansfield homes and industries used more than 733,000,000 cubic feet of water during 1941, a 10 per cent increase which brought $15,437 more into the city's pocketbook than during 1940.

City hall records show industrial consumption of water accounted for a larger increase than domestic consumption due to a production spurt on defense contracts but the construction of 300 new homes was evident in the domestic receipts which showed an increase of more than 17 per cent.

The total amount collected for the use of water during the past year was $170,513.54 as compared to $155,076.51 in 1940.

Domestic receipts increased from $122,391.04 in 1940 to $129,793.76 in 1941, an increase of $7,402. Industrial receipts rose from $32,685 in 1941 to $40,719 last year.

The total number of gallons of water used during 1941 was 79,769,760 which, in case you are interested, would float 90 first class battleships.

The addition of 1941's receipts brings the surplus in the waterworks department to $202,064.93.

Industrial consumption was due to defense production and the addition of many plants of new machinery which require more water for operation.

Burton said problems brought about since the receipts of original instructions from Washington will be discussed at the session. He hinted that even more rigid restrictions on the purchase of new tires may be set up.

Laff-a-Day

"Well, what do you expect me to do—count 'em?"

One of the few institutions in Mansfield which has suffered little to date as the result of government curtailment of supplies for defense materials is the city school system, according to J. B. Moke, purchasing agent for the board of education. Moke says that even since the beginning of the war, that he has had little or no difficulty in obtaining necessary school supplies, such as coal, and building materials. Mansfield schools, it seems, are high on the priorities list, but Moke thinks it a little less than miraculous to be able to get supplies in war times.

The three R's, "reading, riting and 'rithmetic," rear their heads on the yellow lesson-paper programs heralding the "back to skool" party of the Business and Professional Women's club tomorrow night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. In scrawling hand the members are told not to "cum like women en men but like kids you used to be." The invitations make it clear, however, that those having no aspiration to be a student, by donning the proper costume for it, can attend in regular dress and serve on the "board of education."

Ralph Chapman, Y. M. C. A. secretary, thinks it's a busy day when the Y. M. C. A. has 400 people engaged in activity there over a period of 12 hours, but he was almost unprepared for the avalanche of clubs, classes, and meetings, which took place there between 6 p. m. and closing time last night. In addition to the regularly scheduled activities several clubs and groups chose Monday night to meet at the Y. M. C. A. with the result that in the space of a few hours several hundred people carried on some kind of activity in almost every available inch of space in the building, keeping a small house staff busy all evening.

Icy pavements caused some hurried telephoning and rerouting of trips to Alliance last night as six members of the Alliance Music Study club were marooned in Mansfield after presenting a return program for members of the Mansfield Music Study group. Forced to abandon their automobiles because of the glaze of ice, two school teachers in the group took a railroad train in order to get home in time for classes today while the other four telephoned their husbands of the situation and bunked with friends over night.

PUBLIC, LABOR AND INDUSTRY REPRESENTED

Group Authorized To Submit Disputes To Binding Arbitration.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A 12-man war labor board, headed by William H. Davis and armed with arthority to submit l bor disputes to binding arbitration, superseded the defense mediation board today in the job of settling disagreements between workmen and management, anywhere in the nation's gigantic industrial mashine.

The new board, created yesterday by executive order of President Roosevelt, will absorb all of the functions and most of the employes of the board it replaces.

The war labor board is an outgrowth of the recent industry-labor conference in Washington which agreed to end strikes and lockouts during the war and to settle all disputes by peaceful means.

Davis, the New York patent lawyer who also headed the defense mediation board, will be one of four men representing the public. Industry and labor will be represented by four each, with labor's representation divided equally between the CIO and the AFL.

Members aside from Davis are:

Public: George W. Taylor, professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania, who will serve as vice chairman; Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina and, like Davis, a member of the defense mediation board; and Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University of Oregon Law school and chairman of the presidential fact-finding committee which settled the threatened nation-wide railroad strike in December.

Industry: A. W. Hawkes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and of Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., Montclair, N. J.; Roger D. Lapham of San Francisco, chairman of the board of the American - Hawaiian Steamship company; E. J. McMillan, president of Standard Knitting Mills, Inc.; and Walter C. Teagle, of New York, chairman of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. Lapham and Teagle served on the defense mediation board.

Labor: Thomas Kennedy, of Washington, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers (CIO); George Meany, New York, secretary-treasurer of the AFL; R. J. Thomas, Detroit, president of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO); and Matthew Woll, Washington, vice president of the AFL. Meany and Kennedy served on the old board, but Kennedy resigned in disagreement over board policies.

In his order, Mr. Roosevelt stipulated that the first step in settling a dispute shall be direct negotiation or procedure provided in a collective bargaining agreement.

If this fails, the United States conciliation service, if not already participating, will try to work out a settlement. Should this method fail to bring about a settlement, the case would be certified to the board by the secretary of labor or the board could take jurisdiction after consulting the secretary of labor.

The board then would chart a course for settlement, through mediation, voluntary arbitration or arbitration under rules of its own creation.

Akron North Cagers Boast Ten-Game Winning Streak

Sport Podge by REX HESS

That Mansfield - Ashland bucketball rivalry being renewed tonight at Ashland isn't as old you might think.

According to the records I've been able to dig up, and they're admittedly incomplete, inadequate and nearly irrelevant, Mansfield and Ashland high schools have been flipping the spheroid at each other for only 31 years.

And that is ten years shorter than the football rivalry between the two schools which was terminated with the playing of the 1940 game.

Well, that is nothing to worry about, and besides, it's too late to do anything about it now.

It was back in the season of 1910-11 that Mansfield high hoopsters first initiated the A's in the intricacies of the pastime originated by Dr. James Naismith 20 years before.

The Mansfielders dished out a neat little lesson while they were at it, 69-16.

Captained by the gigantic Lawrence "Red" Hughes, the Mansfield team included Clayton Remy, Eddie Longsdorf, Harold Bloor, and Jay Thuma.

Some of the old timers may step forward with the assertion that Mansfield played Ashland before that memorable season of 1910-11, but my records fail to show it.

Mansfield did play Ashland, and often, in those days, but it was playing Ashland college regularly, and an independent team called the Ashland Orioles, not the high school.

The Mansfield-Ashland football rivalry goes back to 1900 when Mansfield won twice, 18-6 and 18-0. On the Mansfield team were R. Brinley, T. Hall, H. Hall, Cleland, H. Boughton, W. Platt, L. Balliett, H. Rupert, C. Emminger, Ed Upson, J. Upson, Jay Dirlam, and E. Knittle.

It's a coincidence that Mansfield's gridiron rivalry with Ashland and Shelby each lasted just 41 years, the Shelby series starting in 1901.

They give a kick to this poor rhymer,
The antics of those grand old timers.

"Why," asked the sports editor of the Western Windup, "don't you give our basketball team a go? We've won four games already."

"That," I assured him, "is a most remarkable record for a school which had all those scoreless ties in football last fall. I'll be very happy to pass the information along.

"But don't you think you should write the story first. I wouldn't want to scoop you right in your own back yard."

(The Western sports editor is my son Joe).

Wins 1st Three Cushion Match

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ralph Greenleaf of Monmouth, Ill., who was a pocket billiards champion 17 times but never before tried his hand at the three-cusion game in title play, won his first match in the current three-rail tournament yesterday and went after No. 2 today.

* * *

A 50 to 48 victor in 57 innings over Johnny Fitzpatrick of Los Angeles last night, Greenleaf went against Arthur Rubin of Brooklyn, who yesterday lost his second straight match, 50 to 41, to Jake Schaefer of Cleveland in 42 innings.

In naother afternoon pairing Otto Reiselt of Cleveland, beaten 59 to 29 yesterday in 59 innings by Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, faced Earle Lookabaugh, also a Chicagoan.

BETTINA EASES BROWN FROM HEAVYWEIGHT RACE

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — The "build-'em-up-for-Louis" club slipped the grip to Melio Bettina today while easing out a junior member who seemed not to have learned the ritual—Mose Brown, the McKeesport Negro heavyweight who gave Bettina his 29th consecutive victory by a decision last night. Hopeful but bewildered, Brown did little more than fend off the threat of a knockout through ten rounds of lackluster punching before a scant 5,000 fans in Duquesne Gardens.

Marshall Trounces Rockets

Baldwin-Wallace Remains Undefeated In Cage Wars.

(By Associated Press)

Marshall's mighty basketballers snapped Toledo university's 10-game victory streak with a 43-27 thumping but Baldwin-Wallace continued undefeated in the Ohio Conference by beating Bowling Green 44-35 last night.

The Thundering Herd of Huntington, W. Va., scored first against invading Toledo on Forward Jim Wilson's fielder after four minutes of play and was never headed although the Rockets tied the count three times, only to trail 22-15 at halftime.

Baldwin-Wallace overcame a 17-15 halftime deficit to gain its fourth conference victory. The invading Bee-Gees grabbed an early lead by sinking several long shots but steady second-half play by the Berea team overcame the advantage.

* * *

Ohio state absorbed its third straight Western Conference defeat at the hands of Illinois, 58-49. The triumph in Columbus coliseum was the Illini's third in as many loop starts and gave them undisputed leadership in the Big Ten race. Illinois led 30-27 at the half and won on free throws, making good 18 to Ohio's 9.

At Youngstown, Westminster of New Wilmington, Pa., beat Youngstown, 61-35, after trailing at halftime. Guard Leo Mogus scored 26 points for Youngstown.

Indian Pucksters Challenge Barons

(By Associated Press)

Strengthened by the unexpected return of Center Fred Thurier the Springfield Indians entertain the ambitious Cleveland Barons in an American league hockey game tonight.

Thurier, the American league's leading scorer a year ago, was returned because he failed to fit into the Brooklyn lineup. But he will be welcomed by Manager Eddie Shore, although the Indians now are leading the eastern sector of the loop.

Cleveland, the playoff king of the 1941 season, is second in the western half behind Hershey. A triumph tonight, however, would mean a first place deadlock between the two.

2 Tie Up Golf Tournament

Hogan Favored to Clip Thomson In Last Round.

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Golf's mighty mite, Benny Hogan, ruled a favorite to defeat hefty Jimmy Thomson in the playoff today for top money and the championship of the Los Angeles open golf tournament.

The two wound up in a tie for first place in the bitterly fought seventeenth annual event, long hitting Thomson posting a 68 for a 72-hole score of 282, and his Texas-born rival from Hershey, Pa., chalking up a 70 for the same total.

They tee off at 1 p. m., (4 p. m. EST) at Hillcrest Country club to break the first deadlock since Johnny Revolta lost to Vic Ghezzi in 1935. Thomson is gunning for his second triumph in the event. He won in 1938. The winner gets $3,500, the runnerup $1,700 — and no locker room split before hand.

* * *

Hogan and Thomson had little in common starting the playoff. Hogan topped the nation's professionals in average strokes last year with 70.28 per round in 101 rounds. Long hitting Jimmy didn't make the first ten leaders. Hogan won the most money — $18,358. Thomson's wasn't in the top ten.

* * *

But Thomson, long time resident of California and now resident pro at exclusive Del Monte, always has been a strong competitor on his adopted soil, and he proved yesterday he can come from behind.

* * *

Hogan was the general choice, however, because he proved the same thing on the final hole. He needed a birdie four to tie Thomson, and he made it with a longer drive than Jimmy had all day, and a second shot that screamed 175 yards, 25 feet past the flag on the uplifted green. He took two putts to get down and cinched a tie. It was a courageous shot, that second with a two iron.

* * *

American Legion had a 1056 game on Young's 258, Whitcomb's 217, Grohol's 208, Thull's 205, and Smith's 178. In the next game Smith rolled 223.

Second place Safety Cabs gained a game on the Commercial "C" league leading Weber Beers with a 3-0 victory over Mayer Drugs while the Beers were taking a 2-1 win over Southern Produce.

P. White of Goebel Beers turned in high total for the league with 626 on a string of 204-232-190. His 232 was also high game, and helped the Goebels to a 926 game.

Urschel rolled high total of 533 in the Industrial league and high game of 210. Wolf took top honors in the Ohio Fuel Gas league with 512 and 216, while Rupp paced the J. A. C. league with 507 and 188.

APOLOGY TO BOWLERS

Lou Forgets Indian Worries On Illinois Coaching Staff

By IRVEN SCHEIBECK

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Lou Boudreau, major league baseball's youngest manager, is finding that "dabbling with basketball" is an excellent antidote for winter worries as a diamond pilot.

In Columbus over the week-end as assistant coach of the University of Illinois basketball team, for which he was a shining star as a player a few short years ago, the 24-year-old Boudreau has found his basketball chores diverting but will soon give them up to plunge full steam into the tough job of making something out of the Cleveland Indians.

"I'm leaving my job at Illinois in February," he said, "because I feel that my time from then on ought to be Cleveland's and I have plenty of work to do before the season starts up there." In the meantime, he plans to take a few days off from his basketball duties to attend the Heath dinner at Cleveland on Jan. 20, at which time he will go over plans for the season with President Alva Bradley and start putting some of his ideas into effect.

Just what these "ideas" are, Boudreau wouldn't reveal, but he did make one definite promise, namely, that the Indians, next season, will not be a "cry baby" ball club.

"I don't think fans would call the Tribe a 'cry baby' club if they knew the whole story," he said earnestly. "And I think that in all fairness, they should give the boys a chance. I'm sure we'll have harmony on the club this year and that it will be a hustling, aggressive team. I like all the men on the team and I'm sure they all like me, and there's no reason why we can't have unity."

Boudreau said he wouldn't want to size up the club's prospects yet until he could determine definitely how hard the club would be hit by the draft. "The loss of Bob Feller will be serious, naturally" he said, "and there are a few more I'm afraid we'll lose, but these things are part of the game and have to be accepted cheerfully. We'll do the best we can with what we have, knowing that all the other clubs will have the same problems we have. After all, winning the war is the big idea and nothing else is really important until this is accomplished."

Boudreau does not believe he is "too young" for the job and doesn't feel that the added responsibility of managing a ball club will affect his play.

"You never can tell," he said "but I don't think the responsibility will affect my work in the field. It's the chance of a lifetime and I feel that anyone having the opportunity I've been given would be a fool not to grab it."

* * *

As for his coaching job at Illinois, Boudreau is enthusiastic over working with the youthful Illinois team, which, with four sophomores and a junior in the lineup, has already won three Big Ten games and is a red hot championship prospect. "There's what youth can do," he grinned as the Illini overpowered the veteran Ohio State team to continue its drive down the Big Ten trail. "These boys are all youngsters but they can really travel. I hope I can do as well in the big time."

MANY HANDS MAKE LIGHT WORK OF RING

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(AP)—Many hands made light work of the new boxing ring to be broken in tonight at the navy yard.

Sailmakers sewed the mat, the public works department built the platform and radio school bluejackets spliced and wrapped the ropes.

Sailors, marines and British tars will participate in the matches, first at this yard since World War 1.

Charles Clips Christoforidis

Cincinnati High School Lad Trips Greek Fighter.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—It's a good bet slim and speedy Ezzard Charles divided concentration today between high school lessons and wondering what he'd earned in the way of a next fight by his quick technical knockout of Anton Christoforidis. Cleveland Greek.

Ken Overlin, former middleweight titlist and the only victor over Charles in the youngster's 26 professional fights, has been offered a chance to avenge loss of a decision last June here, Promoter Benny Becker said.

George Abrams, Billy Soose and Jimmy Bivins, other nationally ranked stars, also have proffered bouts in telegrams Becker said he received several hours before last night's fight, Charles' 18th knockout victory.

* * *

Christoforidis, who hoped to earn another crack at Gus Lesnevich to whom he lost the light-heavyweight title last summer, got a jolting setback last night, the worst in a career of 44 professional fights of which he won 42, had one draw and the decision loss to Lesnevich.

* * *

The 20-year-old Charles was a 6-5 underdog, but he didn't let Christoforidis in the fight. After opening sparring Charles whipped short jabs to the Greek's head and midriff and had him slowed by the round-one bell. Charles weighed 161; Christoforidis, 164½.

Soose Fights Bivins Tonight

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Billy Soose will attempt to turn out a carbon copy of his last local fight tonight when he enters a 10-round fray against Cleveland's Jimmy Bivins.

* * *

Maneuvering into position for a try at Gus Lesnevich's light heavyweight crown, Soose hopes to turn back Bivins in the same fashion that he won from Jimmy Reeves here, in making his debut in the light heavy ranks. The odds have Soose about a 7 to 5 favorite.

* * *

The former middleweight champion bested Reeves by a decision, and probably will have to depend on the same route to conquer Bivins, whose only defeat in matches against light heavyweights has been at the hands of Anton Christoforidis.

Had Tough Time With Rival St. Vincent

Eleven High School Squads Drop First Decision of 1942 Campaign

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With only a few scattered precincts unreported, indications today were that Akron North in class A and Doylestown in class B were the "teams of the week" in Ohio's high school basketball scrap.

With 1150 squads and 25,000 boys in the cast, those teams had the best records—unless some outfit is hiding its light under a bushel.

The Vikings from the Rubber City rang up their tenth conquest of the campaign last week, beating Akron St. Vincent 32 to 27, while Doylestown handed Apple Creek a 32-18 setback for its 12th straight.

The Saints tossed a scare into the Vikings, being out front with three minutes to play, but big Leo Sadowski, six-foot five-inch guard, and Joe Kelly, six-foot seven-inch center, paced the Akron North rally that clinched the verdict. Doylestown's Chippewas, coached by Harry Shadle, Mt. Union product, had a easier team and romped to victory.

While those squads were extending their pace-setting records, such teams at Ironton, East Liverpool, Cincinnati Elder, Wyoming, Canton McKinley, Canton Lincoln, North Canton, Sharon Center, and Cleveland's Heights, West Tech and East Tech suffered their first setbacks after piling up unblemished early-season marks.

Martin Ferry's class A state champions, paced by Capt. Lou Groza (all-state basketball center and football tackle) gave no evidence that graduation had weakened them, for they beat Lima Central 43 to 34 Saturday for their eighth in a row without a loss.

Other unbeaten team included: 11—Union Furnace; 10—Cumberland; 9—Hanover Township, Columbus St. Charles; 8—Sylvania, Piqua; 7—Warren, Portsmouth East, Greenville, Louisville, Steubenville, Bergholz, Bristol; 6—Monroe, Canton Township, Brecksville, Upper Arlington and Columbus South.

Middletown, beaten once in eight starts, beat Springfield high 32 to 28 for its 11th victory over the Wildcats, maintaining a jinx which has continued for more than five years.

Individual scoring feats were a dime-a-dozen last week, the top honors going to Joe Kostohryz, Brecksville's six-foot five-inch star, who tipped 29 points into the hoop to beat Independence 64 to 36. Among the other one-man sprees were: Bill Hollinger, Columbiana, 27 points in 70-32 conquest over Canfield; Carl Creamer, Jeffersonville's six-foot four-inch guard, 25 to beat South Charleston 44 to 34; Fritz Nagy, Akron South, 20 in 37-29 win over Youngstown Rayen, and 18 in 33-37 loss to Youngstown Woodrow Wilson; and Tom Phillips, Berea's all-Ohio quarterback, 16 against Oberlin and the same against Olmsted Falls.

Others in the high average list are Creamer of Jeffersonville, with a 20-point mark; "Snooks" Jenkins, Fremont Ross' colored star with better than 15 per game, and Dick Huddleston, Canton Timken's outstanding threat who is rolling along at 17.5 for six contests.

Steubenville, boasting one of its best teams in years, is averaging 47 per game to 29 for the foe, and in winning seven straight has toppled five squads from the unbeaten list. Practically every fan in the valley is awaiting the Jan. 27 clash between Steuvenville and Martins Ferry, but before that comes up the "Stubbers" will lose two stars through mid-term graduations.

Akron's season was enlivened by a free-for-all scrap between players and fans of Garfield and Central, before Central finally upset the favored Garfield team 37-34 in an overtime battle. Two of the players came up swinging after a scramble for the ball, and the fans joined in, the melee lasting about five minutes.

Coach Robert Jacoby excused three players from his squad for breaking training, and then lost a 23-16 game to Jefferson, which had only two of eight previous games. The boys are out for the rest of the season, the coach said.

Warren, with nine men back from last year's squad, has the toughest chore in the state this week. The Presidents play tough Akron South tonight, and one-heaten Canton McKinley Saturday, putting their seven-game win streak in jeopardy.

* * *

Canton McKinley's lone defeat was at the hands of its traditional rival, Massillon, a one-handed shot in the last 20 seconds by Joe Demando giving the Tigers a 36-35 victory—their first over McKinley in six starts. Marietta, winner of the southastern district crown five of the last seven years, is definitely down, having lost five of its 10 games.

Shelby Plays Mt. Vernon

Whippets To Try To Hold Loop Leaders Scoring.

SHELBY—The Shelby Whippets will play the league leading Mount Vernon Yellow Jackets here Friday night in a North Central Ohio league cage game.

The yellow Jackets are undefeated in league play so far while the Whippets have lost three consecutive conference games. Mount Vernon leads the league while Shelby shares the cellar with Galion.

Pete Ramson, star of the Yellow Jackets, has been leading Mt. Vernon to a point-a-minute average in the games played to date.

The Shelby zone defense may bottle the Mt. Vernon offense up as none of Shelby games played so far have had very large scores.

Coach William Query expects to start about the same line-up as used last week which will put Dave Clark at center, Ralph Higgins and Dave Lewis at forward posts and Bob Laubie and Junior Keiser at guard positions.

BALDWIN-WALLACE GRID TEAM LOSES TWO BACKS

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The gridiron squad of Baldwin-Wallace was faced with the loss of two of its members today with the report that Irv Maxwell, senior back for the Yellow Jackets, will enlist in the navy at the end of the month and that John Willis, husky colored football star from Lorain, has dropped out of the university because "financial conditions had forced him to quit school."

BAN STEEL MESH FOR CONCRETE ROADS IN STATE

Officials Conserve Metal For War In New Construction, Shaffer Announces.

Most of Ohio's new cement highways will be built for the duration of the war without the use of steel mesh for reinforcement, according to Murray D. Shaffer, chief engineer of the bureau of location and right-of-way for the state highway department.

Shaffer formerly was service-safety director in Mansfield and was Ashland division manager for the state highway department before his appointment to the important highway post in Columbus.

"The policy of conserving steel is in line with the OPM request to all state highway departments to save materials needed for war production," Shaffer said.

The chief engineer said that the highway building program for the state is planned a year in advance but that scarcity of materials and government requests for conservation of materials needed for defense were anticipated in the current program.

Shaffer said that steel mesh will be used in highways only where it is absolutely necessary to be greatly strengthened. These cases, he said, would be defense highways and roads near defense manufacturing centers that are heavily traveled. Steel for these types of thoroughfares are given government priority.

Highways which have only usual travel hold up just as well without steel mesh reinforcement, he said. Solid concrete roads have been built for the past 50 years with great success, he continued.

Law Library Unit Re-elects Beam, Other Officers

Atty. L. H. Beam, Mansfield, president of the Richland County Law Library association, and all other officers of the association were re-elected yesterday at the library board's annual meeting at the courthouse.

Officers who will retain their posts, in addition to Atty. Beam, are Atty. William F. Black, vice president; Atty. H. H. Schettler, treasurer, and Atty. Claude F. Ewing, secretary.

H. L. Creveling was re-appointed law librarian for the sixth consecutive year. Retained as members of the board were Attys. Van Cook, George W. Biddle, and John C. O'Donnell.

The law library, located on the third floor of the courthouse, has 10,025 volumes and is considered one of the best in the state. The board added 160 volumes during the past year and yesterday authorized the purchase of more new ones in 1942.

THEATERS

Musical Comedy.

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland take the lead in achieving a "break" on Broadway for dozens of talented youngsters who storm the big city every year in the current Ohio attraction, "Babes On Broadway." Fay Bainter, an old-timer herself, helps the cause along as the secretary of a Main Stem producer. Mickey and Judy add impersonations to their bag of song and dance tricks in this production with the former doing a take-off of Carmen Miranda and Judy reviving memories of Fay Templeton. James Gleason and two youthful newcomers, Ray McDonald and Richard Quine, are in the cast.

Stage Play.

The Madison will dispense with a screen program Wednesday in view of the evening performance of Jack Kirkland's stage production, "Tobacco Road," which plays Mansfield for the third time. Depicting the life of the Georgia sharecroppers, who take life as they find it, the play presents an assortment of characters headed by "Jeeter Lester," the shiftless father of the tribe. John Barton, who comes to Mansfield as "Jeeter" for the third time has been playing the role for five years. Others in the cast are Sara Perry as the wife, Vinnie Phillips as "Sister Bessie," and Lillian Ardell and Sondra Johnson.

Gay Comedy.

"Father Takes a Wife," opening at the Park tomorrow, gives Adolphe Menjou the "gay dog" role of a shipping magnate who surprises his family by marrying a temperamental actress played by Gloria Swanson. The picture introdubes Desi Anaz, a young Cuban singer, in the humorous role of the wife's protege, while Florence Rice and John Howard appear as the married children of Menjou. "Let's Go Collegiate," the second picture, centers upon a college rowing crew and features Frankie Darro and Gale Storm.

Murder Theme.

"Murder By Invitation," starring Wallace Ford and Marian Marsh opens Wednesday at the Ritz. Ronald Reagan and Joan Perry are co-starred in the second picture, "Nine Lives Are Not Enough."

Cooper Starred.

Gary Cooper's starring picture "Meet John Doe," opens today at the Majestic. Barbara Stanwyck is co-starred. Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power are teamed in "Second Fidlle," the second production.

Decision Would Exempt City From Bathing Pool Tax

The city of Mansfield and other Ohio municipalities would be exempt from paying the state amusement tax on admission to municipal swimming pools under a decision which was handed down recently by Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds at Columbus.

Judge Reynolds' decision reversed a ruling by the state board of tax appeals which held that the city of Mansfield must pay the tax on receipts at the Liberty park pool. The city appealed the decision.

The Columbus jurist held that a city or village collecting profit from a swimming pool cannot be considered a stockholder or an individual under the state tax law.

It's Your Patriotic Duty to Keep Your Car In Condition

- Get Longer Tire Mileage! Keep your steering mechanism in perfect condition, to prevent tire wear! Have tires changed regularly, from front to rear and side to side! See that brakes are equalized properly. We know all the tricks for prolonging tire life.
- Get Summer Efficiency In Winter! You'll be surprised how proper conditioning will step up winter gas mileage. Carburetor adjustment, valve grinding and timing, correct ignition, piston and ring fit, lubrication . . . all these play a part.
- Get Continuously Supervised Lubrication! Correct lubrication is more than attention every 1000 miles. There are units that need attention at longer intervals . . . 5,000 miles, or 8,000, or 10,000. They're the ones you forget . . . but we don't. That's another reason for using our organized, scientific service.
- Eliminate Brake Trouble and Expense! Your brakes are your greatest driving responsibility! Faulty adjustment causes anything from excess tire wear to skids and accidents. Let our brake specialists eliminate brake trouble and expense for you!
- Efficient Ignition Saves Gas! We do more than change your spark plugs and clean ignition points. We go through the whole ignition system, from loose contacts to battery, from faulty insulation to worn switches! You can't have fuel economy without a hot spark. Come in and save money!

While you're here be sure to see our line of Chrysler Approved accessories. Radios, heaters, defrosters, fog lights, etc.—and believe it or not, we have some new batteries for sale!

Your Attention, Please!

About 60 days ago we delivered a 1942 Pontiac 6-cylinder, 6-passenger coupe to a local person who has since, due to circumstances beyond her control, decided to dispose of this car. It is equipped with a Pontiac seven-tube radio, underseat heater, defrosters, new type air conditioner, U. S. Royal white side-wall tires, 2-tone black finish (black body with silver top), red plaid seat covers with leather trim, license plate frames, vanity mirror, trunk and glove compartment lights and a windshield wiper booster pump. It has only been driven eleven hundred and eighty-three miles (1183). This car new, before new cars were frozen, delivered in Mansfield for $1383. It will carry a new car warantee as if it had never been driven, and the buyer will be entitled to their 2000-mile service. We have this car on display in our showroom.

COINCIDENCE

Youth Enlists, Receives Canteen Used by Uncle 20 Years Ago.

AKRON —(NS)— Here's one to add to the list of coincidences.

When Warden V. Ankeny went to Camp Shelby, where he became a member of the service company of the 145th infantry, he was issued a canteen which had his Uncle Calvin's name scratched on it.

Calvin B. Ankeny, Akron, served with the national guard for many years, dating from the World war days to 11 years ago.

STOCK LEADERS ADD FRACTIONS

Monday Recovery Continues In Early Trading; Bank Loans Unchanged.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stock market leaders today tacked on fractions to yesterday's recovery, first in a week.

Financial quarters studied the summary of the federal reserve board indicating loans to commerce, industry and agriculture by member banks in 101 cities for the week ended Jan. 7 were unchanged from the previous week but exceeded the comparable period last year by $1,693,000,000.

Brokers' loans were down $14,000,000 on the week and other loans for purchases of securities were off $10,000,000.

APPROPRIATION BILL UP $5,400

more than double its amount during the past five years.

Miller said that the parks were given only $7,000 during 1933, about $9,000 in 1936, approximately $11,000 in 1937 and that this latest increase will raise the parks fund more than 25 per cent above last year's appropriation.

Vaughn asked that $1,000 be added to the $2,000 already appropriated for incidentals and supplies, $2,500 to the fund for personal services and another $400 for the Maple Lake shelter house.

Council added the $1,500 for insurance after Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton requested the move to provide insurance against loss of waterworks machinery. Crafton pointed out that the insurance companies could obtain repair parts more quickly than regular companies, especially since the priorities restrictions have been invoked.

The increases to the parks and waterworks funds brought the city's total spending bill for 1942 including general and special funds to $680,913. Another $77,567 was appropriated for bond retirement.

The finance committee had clipped $37,500 from the original requests last Wednesday.

Council also authorized Service-Safety Director Crafton to enter into a contract with the Pollak Steel company of Cincinnati, for the removal of abandoned street car rails from city streets.

The steel company, under the terms of the contract, will remove about three miles of rails and replace them with bricks. The city will give the rails to the steel company but will be by the company to repave the streets. The steel company will buy old brick taken up from West Fourth street for the repaving work.

SEE TAX HIKE ONLY WAY TO INCREASE PAY

School Officials Tell 200 Teachers Special Levy Only Solution.

speaking for other members of the board, Arlin said he believed the board "would favor a move for a higher rate if the topic gained enough popular favor."

He added, however, that he was "sure the board would not back something that would have no chance for success."

Pointing to increasing federal taxes, the board president asserted that it was unlikely that voters would look favorably now on campaign to increase local taxes.

Mrs. K. E Buhr, president of the Mansfield P. T. A. council, told the teachers that the city's P. T. A groups would be willing to discuss the teachers' pay problem at their meetings with a view to measuring public reaction to the pay increase proposal and acquainting the people with teachers' problems.

Miss Elizabeth Hainer, president of the Mansfield City Teachers' association, cited a 14 per cent increase in the cost of living in Mansfield in the past two years and pleaded for increased salaries for teachers to enable them to keep their jobs without seeking outside employment to help them retain their living standard.

"The desire for pay increases unfortunately isn't always met by an increase in revenue to grant them," Supt. Miller said.

He presented figures showing that 79 per cent of the 1942 school appropriation of $598,539 will go to pay salaries of principals, teachers, and employes as compared with 71.3 per cent of the appropriation in 1929 and 70 8 per cent in 1931.

The average teachers' salary in Mansfield this year is $1,682, an increase of $47 since 1930, he said. The salaries of junior and senior high school instructors, however, are from $20 to $104 lower now than in 1930, his report showed. The only increase is in the pay of elementary teachers which jumped $150 in the past 12 years, primarily because of the single-salary plan which was placed in effect here last spring.

Under the single-salary plan teachers with the same training and experience receive the same pay regardless of whether they teach in the grades or high school.

County Auditor Wolfe told the group that the amount the city schools receive from county taxes has been set by state law since 1935 and the schools' share of the tax money cannot be raised or lowered by the budget commission.

He estimated that an extra mill added to the tax rate would produce nearly $60,000 a year for the schools. The auditor invited members of the teachers' committee to confer with him and his staff at any time on the tax situation.

Both Supt Miller and Arlin said they would be glad to grant salary boosts if there was sufficient money to do it.

"We hope the teachers realize that our failure to grant increases doesn't mean that we haven't given their request serious study," Arlin said.

In reply to a question from the audience, the superintendent said there was no truth in the report that the schools turned back $10,000 last year to the state foundation fund.

"Even if we had that much money left over, we couldn't give it back," he asserted He added that the schools would receive about $20,000 more this year as the result of increased property valuations in the city, but a part of the money will be used to pay off a $30,000 loan carried over from 1941.

Arlin said the debt represented the board's failure to appropriate enough funds for operation last year and the fact that not all the 1941 personal tax money has been turned over to the schools.

Diplomats Say All Nations But Argentine Due To Fall In Line.

could be no compromise as was the case at the Panama and Havana conferences, when Argentina's individualistic stand forced modification of hemisphere projects.

Should Argentina hew to the policy outlined last week by Ruiz Guinazu, who said his government was opposed to any pre-belligerent measures or any military alliances, the other nations were expected to say to Argentina in effect:

"You go your way and we'll go ours."

Possible modification of this policy, however, was seen in the action of leaders of three opposition blocks in the Argentine chamber of deputies, who yesterday called upon acting President Ramon S. Castillo to convoke a special session of congress to study "urgent fundamental problems" facing the nation.

Thus far Argentina's only deviation from strict neutrality has been to recognize the United States as a non-belligerent and open her ports to unlimited stays by U. S. warships.
